BLOODHOUNDS ON TRAIL

Crowd of Searchers Join Man Hunt in Spite of Raging Storm

Elkhorn.—(AP)—A pair of blood-hounds are leading a posse of 50 men
on a trail from this city which is expected to bring them up on a man who shot and seriously wounded Elmer T. Ridgeway at his home here Sunday night.

The posse took the trail Monday morning when the dogs were given the scent from a blanket in which the "tramp" had wrapped himself while asleep in Ridgeway's home. The animals immediately started across lots in a southerly direction and continued to hold the trail Sunday night
when he returned to his home with his wife shortly before 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Ridgeway found that the party
had been raided and a search of the house was made. A man was discovered wrapped in a blanket, asleep
in a room on the second floor.

Ridgeway was shot Sunday night
when he returned to his home with
his wife shortly before 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Ridgeway found that the party
had been raided and a search of
the house was made. A man was discovered wrapped in a blanket, asleep
in a room on the second floor.

Awakening him, with the question
"What are you doing here," Ridgeway was answered with two bullets from a .32 calibre pistol. The "tramp" then left through a rear door. Ridgeway was removed to a hospital at Janesville, where it is said he has an even chance for recovery.

Although a heavy storm was raging Sunday night a large posse took the trail, but were unable to find the man. This morning the bloodhounds arrived and immediately took up the trail, which apparently was not lost
in Sunday night's storm.

The sheriff is especially interested in catching the man, he said, this morning, to determine if he had anything to do with the double killing
last week in the vicinity of Kenosha.

There is little chance the man is the same, it was said, because the pistol used in Kenosha killing was a .38 calibre gun.

4 INCHES OF SNOW IN STATE'S BABY BLIZZARD

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Wisconsin suffered from an early entry of winter today.
Last night a baby blizzard which left a trail of snow through the northern part of the state, struck here. Snow fell for a time, and Monday morning
only the aftermath, a piercing blast
out of the northwest remained.

The weatherman promises warmer weather later in the week. However, the four to five inches of snow which fell throughout the northern section of the state serves as a warning as to what is to follow.

GENERAL DOE TO BE BURIED IN BELOIT

Beloit.—(AP)—Funeral services were to be held Monday for General Joseph B. Doe, who died at his home in Milwaukee Saturday of pneumonia. The body will be placed by that of his wife who died several years ago.

HINT LENROOT IN LINE TO SUCCEED WORK IN CABINET

Superior.—(AP)—Senator I. L.
Lenroot will be made secretary of the interior upon the resignation soon of Hubert Work, according to a story carried in a recent issue of "Reform," a publication in the Norwegian language printed at Eau Claire. Translation of the story credits Dame Runnor with the report that Work is to resign
and President Coolidge will offer
Senator Lenroot the position.

This report is in direct conflict with the oft-repeated statements
of Senator Lenroot made in the past to the effect that he intends to run for office again and that he will not consider appointment to any federal office. At the time Senator Lenroot made these statements here his name was being linked with appointments to a federal judgeship.

AUTOS KILL 17, TRAINS 5, PLANE 1 OVER WEEKEND

Airplanes Figure Three Times
in Sunday Accidents, Several Fliers Hurt

Chicago.—(AP)—Airplane accident's figured twice in Sunday's news reports with one fatality. Automobiles took a toll of seventeen lives in the middlewest, five persons were killed by trains, and more than a score were injured in a variety of miscellaneous accidents.

Injuries received in a 200-foot drop from an airplane at Barron Lake, Minn., were fatal to Miss Dagmar Stegman, 21, of Copenhagen, Denmark. The young woman had been giving exhibitions and it was believed that her belt slipped making it impossible for her to reach the rope to open her parachute.

Marvin Goodwin, formerly manager of the Houston club of the Texas league, and recently sold to the Cincinnati Nationals, was seriously hurt
when a plane he was piloting fell 200 feet at Ellington field, Houston.

The DH-4's, an army plane, was wrecked at Fairmont, W. Va., when a fire blew up as a landing was being made. Neither of its two passengers was injured.

Collision of an automobile with an interurban car was fatal to five, including former State Representative
George M. Long at Lansing, Mich., Edward Corwell, his wife and daughter, were killed in a similar accident at Detroit. Five met death in an accident near Peoria, Ill., two at Chicago and one each at Livingston, Mont., and Neenah.

Automobile fatalities for the full week in ten middle western states
numbered 17, as follows: Ohio 27,
Illinois 24, Michigan 21, Indiana 15,
Missouri and Wisconsin 8 each, Texas 4, Kansas 3, Minnesota 4 and Oklahoma 2.

SUPREME COURT AGAIN UPHOLDS VOLSTEAD ACT

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The constitutionality of the Volstead act again was upheld and its provision discussed in detail Monday by the supreme court. A formal opinion in the Druggan case from Chicago, in which an appeal by the defendant recently was dismissed, was made the occasion
for the court's redefinition of its support of the validity of the dry law.

The Arizona minimum wage law for women was held to be unconstitutional.
The court dismissed for want of jurisdiction the attack upon the California syndicalism law by Charlotte Anita Whitney. It refused to pass up the liability of Charles A. Stoneham, as an alleged secret partner in the bankrupt stock brokerage firm of
E. M. Fuller and Co. of New York.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN I. BEGGS, CAR MAGNATE

President of Traction Company Here Dies in Milwaukee Hospital

John I. Beggs, president and founder of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co., famous all over the United States as a street car magnate and industrial leader died in a Milwaukee hospital Saturday night.
He was 78 years old.

Funeral services will be held in Milwaukee on Tuesday and the body is to be taken to Harrisburg, Pa., where Mr. Beggs won his first success as an electrical engineer. The body will be taken to the E. M. R. A. room in the Public service building at 1 o'clock and will rest in state until 12:30. Funeral services will start at 1:30 and the body is to be taken to Harrisburg immediately after the last rites.

A. K. Ellis, general manager of the traction company, with heads of three departments—W. B. Montgomery, J.
S. Hughes and John Voge will attend the funeral as official representatives of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co.

CAME HERE IN 1897
Beggs became connected with the public utility here in 1897, four years after he went to Milwaukee to assume charge of the then bankrupt Milwaukee electric service company. In 1897
Mr. Beggs, with Charles Foster, Oliver Fuller, Fred Vogel, Jr., and Frank Fuller of Milwaukee and H. D.
Smith of Appleton organized the Fox River Valley Electric Co. and built the line between Appleton and Neenah.

The next year the new company purchased the Appleton Electric Railway Co. and the Appleton Lighting Co., changing the name to the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co.
The line to Kaukauna was built the next year.

Mr. Beggs was president of the Appleton company from its start and he was its directing head until the sale of the property. In 1923 to the North American Co. Mr. Beggs remained as president of the Appleton company and also the Milwaukee company after the North American Co. acquired control.

VISITED HERE
Mr. Beggs visited in Appleton
once a week for many years. In fact all the years from 1897 until about 1920. From 1920 until 1923 his visits averaged about once a month and since 1923 he has been in Appleton only infrequently. Mr. Beggs was well known here.

Mr. Ellis was installed head of the traction system here by Mr. Beggs about 27 years ago. Mr. Ellis' first connection with the traction magnate was from 1890 to 1892 when he constructed street railway systems in Lincoln, Ill., and Dubuque, Iowa, for Mr. Beggs. After completing those projects Mr. Ellis went with the Chicago Street Railways Co. and when Mr. Beggs built his line here he sought Mr. Ellis and placed him in charge of the Appleton property. Mr.
Ellis' connection with Beggs includes about 30 years. Mr. Ellis will be an honorary pallbearer at the funeral.

Directors of First National bank
of Milwaukee also will be honorary bearers at the funeral. F. J. Sensbrenner of Neenah is a director of the bank. It was announced here Monday that the office of the traction company will be closed from 12 to 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon out of respect to the memory of Mr. Beggs.

ILLNESS SECRET
The illness of the magnate was closely guarded and was known only to a few of his business intimates.

Callers at his offices in Milwaukee
Friday and Saturday were informed that Mr. Beggs was out of the city for an indefinite period and that no information could be furnished as to his whereabouts.

Mr. Beggs was a widower during the entire time of his residence in Milwaukee. His immediate family consists of his daughter, Mrs. Mc-Culloch, her husband and their three children. These three grand-children are John I. McCulloch, 16, named for Mr. Beggs; Robert McCulloch, 14, and Mary Sue McCulloch, 12, who are attending school in St. Louis. His

36 CURTAIN CALLS FOR U. S. SOPRANO IN BERLIN DEBUT

Berlin.—(AP)—Thirty-six curtain calls rewarded the debut Sunday night at the Municipal opera of Dusolina Giannina, the American soprano. She sang in the role of Aida, under the conductorship of Bruno Walter, the American singer.
Dusolina Giannini was born in Philadelphia of Italian parents.
Her father, a tenor, sang with Adelina Patti for many seasons.

INDICT THREE FOR KENTUCKY MINE DEATHS

Prosecution of $85,000 Turner Insurance Fraud Starts
in New York

Pikeville, Ky.—(AP)—Sheriff John
M. Johnson announced Monday that Mrs. F. F. Farley, sister of W. J.
Turner had been indicted on a charge
of murder her last week at the same time similar indictments were returned against Turner and Joe Jack, Jr., Turner's brother-in-law in the alleged $85,000 insurance fraud case. Mrs. Farley was arrested Sunday at Miami, Fla. Sheriff Johnson also announced federal aid would be sought, in an effort to return from Austria, Joe Jack, Sr., father-in-law of Turner.

START SUIT
New York.—(AP)—Prosecution for an $85,000 insurance fraud involving an explosion in a Kentucky mine
nine months ago was proceeding Monday with developments in Kentucky, Florida and New Jersey.

William H. Turner, whose relatives collected $85,000 insurance on representation that he had been killed in the explosion, was back in Pikeville, Ky., having returned voluntarily from Germany to New York, and was taken into custody by Kentucky authorities. He is accused of murder of the two by the explosion at McCarr, near Pikeville. The body of one of the victims had been identified as his.

Mrs. F. F. Farley, Turner's sister, to whom $60,000 insurance was paid,
was under arrest at Miami, Fla.,
was taken into custody when she called for mail at the Coral Gables postoffice Sunday. Held for the Kentucky authorities, she said that she was willing to make restitution.

Mrs. William H. Turner, in the home she bought in Trenton, N. J., after her husband fled to Germany
was planning a trip to Kentucky
with her five children after completion of proceedings which an insurance company has started to recover $25,000 paid her.

"I will scrub floors to give the insurance people back the money I spent," she said. "I did not need it.
I would rather have had my husband."

Turner told the Kentucky authorities that he received $10,000 of the insurance money from Mrs. Farley and that he sent it to his wife.

DOBBIN FAVORITE OVER MOTOR TRUCK FOR SHORT HAULS

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—The increasing use of passenger automobiles has intensified the competition between motor trucks and horses in congested districts of cities with the horse gaining in favor. In Chicago for example, there are 28,035
horses in commercial use and 44-381 trucks, says a survey of the Home Association of America.

Milk delivery, cartage, ice and coal trade and bakery delivery rank
in that order in the preponderance of horses used. In Chicago ranging from over 90 per cent in milk delivery to 81 per cent use of horses
in short haul delivery, the survey shows.

BOARD MEETS TO WORK OUT REVENUE PLAN

Treasury Secretary Advises Repeal of Estate, Gift
and Auto Taxation

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—A tax reduction of $250,000,000 to $300,000,000
was recommended to congress Monday by Secretary Mellon before the house ways and means committee Monday.

Without attempting to lay down definite schedules, he suggested that a reduction in surtaxes to 20 percent
in place of the present 37 per cent
would not cripple the treasury. This would reduce the maximum tax, surtax and normal tax levied on the large-est income to 25 per cent. It now is 42 per cent.

The secretary also advocated these additional changes: Repeal of the estate tax; repeal of the gift tax; repeal of automobile taxes by repeal of the levies on trucks, tires and accessories; repeal of a number of miscellaneous taxes, such as that on works of art brought from abroad;
repeal of the publicity section of the income tax law.

He opposed repeal of the tax on tickets to theatres and other places of amusements and various other proposals for amendment of the present law, including any extension in the jurisdiction of the board of tax appeals.

The normal rate would be fixed under the secretary's suggestions at 25 per cent instead of 2 per cent on incomes up to $4,000; at 3 per cent instead of 4 per cent on incomes of $4,000 to $8,000, and at 5 per cent
instead of 6 per cent on incomes in excess of $8,000.

The secretary's recommendations
based on the conclusions of treasury
officials that a surplus of $290,000,000
is in prospect this year in federal revenues, was submitted to the house ways means committee at the opening of its hearings on tax reform.

BLAMES SECURITIES
He made reference in his statement to an "inequality in taxation"
produced by the earned income exemption allowed in the present law,
but he added that if the 20 per cent
maximum surtax is accepted, the inequality fostered by the clause giving credit on incomes below $10,000 as earned incomes "will not be so pronounced."

The treasury secretary also renewed his advocacy of a constitutional amendment abolishing tax exempt securities now so large—he estimated them at fourteen billion dollars. He said the government should take away
the artificial advantages held by these securities. Enactment of the proposed 20 per cent surtax will do the work,
the secretary added.

The gift tax was characterized by the secretary as one of a "great many artificial restraints and inequalities
now in the tax law."

He declared the excuse for the gift tax would entirely disappear "if the 20 per cent maximum on incomes is adopted."

Mr. Mellon told the committee that neither the tax on admissions nor the bulk of automobile taxes constitute a burden on tax payers. The government is contributing $90,000,000 a year towards road building and automobile taxes, including those on trucks, tires and accessories, here
yielding annually about $125,000,000.

"The $35,000,000 might be taken off,"
Mr. Mellon said, but so long as the government is contributing the $90-000,000 a year to the roads on which these automobiles run, they certainly ought to pay their way."

COMMITTEE MEETS

Washington, D. C.—The first step toward another slash in the nation's tax bill was taken Monday with the assembling of the house ways and committee to consider a downward
revision of the present levies.

Marking the third time in six years
that the committee has set its hand
to the welcome task of chopping off
some of the tax burdens, the gift to the taxpayers this time in the form of a reduced bill for next year promises to be somewhere between $300-000,000 and $500,000,000.

All hands were ready to advocate

Choice Of MacNider And Davis Political Stroke

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1925 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—The smartest piece of politics since the days of the last campaign when master strategy
was uppermost has just been exhibited by President Coolidge this week in two appointments—Dwight F. Davis of Missouri, to be secretary of war and Hanford MacNider, of Iowa, to be assistant secretary of war.

The success of a political maneuver is not always demonstrable at the outset, but if the reasoning which prompted the appointments should work out as planned, it will remove some of the principal sources of criticism which the president has lately been facing.

Dwight Davis is a Missouri man, and the west has been clamoring for recognition in the cabinet. Mr. Coolidge has been criticized for "too much New England." He had appointed Harlan Stone to be attorney general and then elevated him to the supreme bench and appointed another New Englander in his place.

When John Weeks, of Massachusetts, notified the president many months ago of his desire to resign,
Mr. Coolidge began to think of a western man, feeling that Massachusetts would forgive him if he didn't select a man from his home state to be secretary of war. And Missouri Republicans have been particularly anxious to secure a cabinet portfolio because in two successive presidential campaigns
what has been hitherto a doubtful

state has been placed in the Republican electoral column.

Behind the selection of Hanford MacNider, of Iowa, is another desire to please the middle west. But basically it was an effort to please the American legion and former service men generally. This isn't because Mr.
Coolidge has felt himself weak with the former service men ever since he vetoed the bonus bill but because from these men has been coming the largest and most enthusiastic element in support of Colonel "Billy" Mitchell in his attack on administrative methods
in the air service.

While Col. Mitchell will be dealt with by court-martial for indiscreet statements, the president has been shrewd enough to discover that the sentiment
behind Mitchell is by no means negligible and represents a well-defined criticism of bureaucratic methods in Washington intensified by former service men's experiences with Washington during the war and since in the handling of the veterans' troubles.

Both Dwight Davis and Hanford MacNider are young men, progressive,
active and influential with the youngster school in American public life. The controversy over the air service is in its essence hardly one of back of turn-for planes as enough money has been appropriated to absorb the construction facilities of such airplane plants
as America possesses. It is essentially a matter of administration in which diminished personnel is due to small appropriations.

12 DAYS SUPPLY OF MEAT IN U. S.

America Produced 20 Billion Pounds, 160 Per Capita,
This Year, Expert Says

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Stocks of meats
in storage and process of cure would fill the needs of the United States for only 12 days, if immediately available, according to government bureau figures, Oscar G. Mayer, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, told his organization
Monday at the twentieth annual convention. He estimated American meat production in 1925 would be 20,000,000,000 pounds, with a per capita allotment of nearly 160 pounds exports will be about 1,500,000,000 pounds.

Continued growth of population in the United States at an estimated annual increase of 1,500,000 persons will require additional supplies of meat in this proportion: 200,000 cattle, 200,000 sheep and lambs, and 1-000,000 hogs.

The shortage of hog receipts has increased Chicago prices 60 per cent
in the last year, according to Mr.
Mayer, but the dearth of porkers will be slightly modified by a slight increase in beef, veal and mutton production.

Prominent among accomplishments
in the packing industry, Mr. Mayer named establishment of a service laboratory, founding of a meat packing course in connection with the University of Chicago and work on the standardization of packing house equipment.

ANOTHER BUYING FLOOD SWEEPS STOCK MARKET

New York.—(AP)—Another flood of buying orders swept into the stock market Monday bringing about a sharp rally in prices which overcame
the collapse in the final hour last Saturday. Trading again was whipped up to a furious pace, with General Motors reassuring the leadership in which early gains ranged from 1 to 5 points.
Renewed buying of the rail shares sent
New York Central to the highest price
since 1919.

A terrific selling attack subsequently was launched against the Motor shares, unsettling the rest of the market with the exception of the rail shares, which continued their upward flight. Despite this irregularity, trading proceeded in enormous volume at the rate of almost 700,000 shares an hour.

NABBED BANDITS READ SHAKESPERE

Cowboy Tessler's Gang, Held for 28 Holdups, Have Fine Literary Taste

New York.—(AP)—Intellectual criminals who read Shakespeare studied higher mathematics, used silencers on their pistols and depended on a rab-bit's foot for luck have been revealed
with the capture of 12 or 13 members of the "Cowboy" Tessler gang.

The last part of a dozen under arrest for 28 holdups were taken Sunday night in their luxurious east side apartment within a block of one of New York's most fashionable sections.
Editions of Shakespeare, Boswell's Life
of Johnson and treatises on higher mathematics were found on the library table. Ropes for their victims were under a bed. A rabbit's foot was on the floor. A similar library was found in the Bronx apartment of "Cowboy" Tessler, their leader.

A woman member of the gang, Helen Hamilton was the armorer. She kept pistols in good condition issuing them when needed. This task was delegated to her because she could conceal weapons more easily than a man. Police say that members of Cowboy's gang have been identified as having participated in 28 recent hold-ups.

Tessler, who has attended Columbia university is charged with having shot and killed Abraham Peika, furrier, last July. The inventor of the gang's pistol silencer is still at large.

ARRAIGN TOOTH DRUNK DRIVER IN GREEN BAY

Green Bay.—(AP)—The one hundredth drunken driver to be arraigned in Green Bay courts since Jan. 1, 1925
was given a $100 fine Monday by Justice G. A. Arends. Of the 100 arraigned, 83 have been fined, 17 jailed
and 24 barred from the road for periods ranging from a month to a year.

Last year at this time, a total of 103 drunken drivers had been arraigned. Figures for this year were considerably ahead of those for 1924 until about two months ago, when the practice of barring offenders from the road was adopted. Since that time there has been a marked falling off in the number of men arrested for driving under the influence of liquor, which has brought the total figure for the year below that of 1924.

POLICE AT FUNERAL Detectives Mingle With Crowds at Final Rites for Madelynn Latimer

A large number of sorrowing friends and relatives gathered at St.
Mary church at 8:30 Monday morning to attend the funeral services for Madelynn Latimer, the 19-year-old Appleton young woman, who, with her fiancé, James Sears, was shot to death near Kenosha last Wednesday night. Her body was laid to rest at St. Mary cemetery with her slayer still unidentified.

Miss Latimer's body reached Appleton Saturday afternoon, accompanied from Kenosha by her three sisters, Miss Evelyn Latimer of Milwaukee, her twin sister, and Mrs.
Joseph S. Louis and Mrs. Walter Van Caster of the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Latimer, 111 W.
Washington st., where it reposed until the funeral hour.

Presence in the home of the body intensified the sorrow of the young woman's grief-stricken mother and other members of the family, but a large number of friends called, and the many flowers sent to the residence also told the story of sympathy.

It is estimated that more than 1,000
persons visited the Latimer home Sunday afternoon to view the body. A number were friends or acquaintances of the deceased girl but many were merely curious. Chief George T. Prim of the police department kept a patrolman at the home Saturday evening and Sunday to try to keep the morbidly curious out of the home and a quite a number of people were turned away.

The funeral mass at St. Mary church Monday morning was said by Msgr. W. J. Fitzmaurice. The church was well filled and there was a long cortege of cars to St. Mary cemetery.
The active and honorary bearers were childhood friends of Miss Latimer.
Those who bore the casket were Daniel Plette, Harold Barrow, George Tues, Claire Brill, Claude Rogers and Carl VanLoose. Six young women were the honorary bearers, the Misses Agnes Toonen, Lillian Rogers, Alice Schafelke, Loretta Nooyen, Margaret Plutz and Vester Chamberlain.

Mrs. Latimer, though ill and nearly in collapse, steered herself for the burial ordeal and mustered her strength so she could go all the way to the grave with Madelynn's body.
She was able to calm herself after the arrival of the body Saturday and bore up bravely until the casket was leaving the church. She broke down there but went with the cortege to the cemetery and witnessed the last rites as the

“Y” IS SURE OF 1,200 MEMBERS ON ITS 1925 ROLL Campaign Workers Make Final Report at Meeting on Monday Morning

A total of at least 1,200 members will be enrolled in Appleton Y. M. C. A. by 6 o'clock Monday evening according to reports from the campaign committee Monday morning. The campaign closed officially Friday evening, but because of a few renewals and leftover subscriptions which from members were certain of getting in with a few more hours work, it was continued another day.

Each division guaranteed to secure 25 members by Monday evening and membership were in by Monday morning. At the rate at which they were being secured it looked as if the quota would be passed according to George H. Werner, general secretary. Several more members will be secured later in the year and it is expected the association will have at least 1,300 by Jan. 1.

MELLON ASKS TAX CUT OF ABOUT 300 MILLION

Reductions Monday, including the treasury and members of both major parties in congress. Republicans want cuts totaling between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 while Democrats as represented by their ranking members on the committee. Representative Garner of Texas, believe reductions can be made up to $500,000,000. The committee wanted first however, for the views of Secretary Mellon, asked to appear as first on the list for the public hearings opening Monday afternoon and to continue for two weeks. After the committee begins the actual drafting of a new revenue law. The committee was called to convene for an executive session early in the day.

Jones Lumber Co. will speak on "The Value of Trade Associations to the Individual" at the weekly luncheon of Appleton Rotary club Tuesday noon at Hotel Northern. The program for this week's meeting is in the hands of the business methods committee composed of Frederick G. Moyle, chairman, Dr. D. O. Kinsman and William Roemer.

WANT NEXT EPISCOPAL MEET AT WASHINGTON

New Orleans, La.—(AP)—The house of delegates of the Episcopal church adopted a resolution Monday at Washington D. C. the meeting place for the 1925 general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church. The 1925 general convention will assemble on Oct. 21. The selection must be approved by the house of bishops which with the house of delegates is in final convention here.

THREE KILLED IN FIRST SNOW STORM OF SEASON

St. Paul, Minn.—(AP)—Three deaths resulted from a winter's first general visit to the northwest Sunday. Snow fall varied from one to four inches. Robert Schneider, 15, St. Paul, and Walter Bush, 25, Dixon, Ill., were killed by the snow at Red Wing, Minn., and killed when they tried to see a train. Louis Benson, 60, of Minneapolis, met a similar fate in Minneapolis.

FIRE DEPARTMENT OUT FOR TWO SMALL FIRES

Sunday proved to be as ideal a day for fires as for football games. Two fires were made by the fire department last day but both blazes were of a minor nature. The first fire was turned in at 1:10 a. m. in the afternoon. Sparks from a chimney ignited the roof of the William Schwendler residence, 1121 N. Oneida St. Little damage was done to the house, however as the flames had been discovered before they had gained much headway and were easily extinguished. The second alarm was received at the department at 7:15 in the evening from the Theodore Latimer's home. The blaze turned out to be a brush fire and no damage was done.

POLICE STILL FAIL IN SEARCH FOR MURDERER

Wednesday night while Mr. Sears' roomster was parked on a road six miles north of Kenosha. The place where their bodies were dragged from the automobile still is being studied by detectives in the hope of finding new clues. A police dog was to be used. Appleton was visited Monday by Milwaukee detectives who desired to look over the funeral crowds with the expectation that a moron who might have been the slayer could not resist the temptation to follow the body to its grave. But they found little to reward them for their trouble. The detectives made a number of inquiries as to the friends of Madeline and studied the situation from Appleton angles. The detectives announced that they would request Miss Evelyn Latimer, the twin sister and roommate of Madeline to accompany them to Kenosha Monday afternoon to give them further assistance. Miss Latimer had planned to remain at least until her mother improved. Bill O'Meara, a Marquette university dental student was released by the police at Milwaukee Monday morning after being detained for questioning in connection with the double killing. O'Meara told the police that he had met Madeline Latimer but had seen her only at the time he was presented to her. He produced evidence to show he was working at the time the shootings are said to have occurred. Following of several clues over the weekend has failed to bring officials any nearer to the solution of this mysterious case. The investigation has been said to be little more than a blind-till-the-bull is dead. The police are said to be looking for a man who had relatives of the victims return to Kenosha from the funeral services. Sears is to be buried at the old home in Ashok, N. C., on Tuesday. Julius Tikas, a Kenosha laborer who was arrested in Chicago Saturday night when he appeared to have an uncanny knowledge of the crime, has been brought to Kenosha but police believe that he is on way connected with the murders but has been somewhat unbalanced because of reading too much regarding the murder. His time card at a local factory shows that he was at work on the night of the slaying. Flash, a full-blooded German police dog belonging to a Racine man has been brought to Kenosha. The owner offers to let the dog be used in attempting to trail its way over the scene of the murder and this will probably be tried sometime during the day. The dog is not a bloodhound but it is thought possible that its actions may be able to show something regarding the place in which the murder was committed and the action of the murderers at the time.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN I. BEGGS, TRACTION HEAD

President of Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. Dies in Milwaukee only other relatives are a sister, Mrs. Harry Ginet, Media, Pa., and a half-sister, Mrs. H. T. Hawkins, Helmes Beach, Calif. Both sisters were notified of his death. On Sept. 17 last Mr. Beggs celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday by working in his office throughout the day. Always an exponent of the virtues of hard work he received reports with his usual formula for happiness and contentment—hard work from early morning until late at night. "When my time comes to go," he said on this occasion, "I want to go with my boots on. I will never retire from business because my work is my pleasure and my recreation. I couldn't be happy unless I could work."

ACTIVE UNTIL DEATH

His wish was granted. President of the Milwaukee street car system, the St. Louis Car Co., director of the First Wisconsin National bank, officer of a large number of realty corporations and identified financially with numerous industrial enterprises. Mr. Beggs was undoubtedly the busiest man in Milwaukee until he was taken to the hospital Thursday. Mr. Beggs was born in Philadelphia in 1847. Like practically all of the men of larger affairs in America, he began life extremely poor and the acquiring of large wealth and multiple business enterprises came through his own initiative and hard labor. He was of Scotch-Irish parentage and his parents emigrated to America only a few months before he was born. He started work at 10. Before he was 10 he attended school spending his spare time in herding cattle on the outskirts of Philadelphia, but at that age family necessities required that he go to work. His first job was in a brick yard in Philadelphia, where he received 10 cents a day for turning brick. Later he was employed in a butcher shop, by a cabinet maker and after he had taken a course in a business college he became a teacher therein. When he was 21 he went to Harrisburg, Pa., and became a clerk for the Philadelphia and Reading Coal Co. at 10 a week. Here he attended the Methodist church and became an usher and, strangely enough, this church connection led him into the field of electricity. The lighting of the church was a problem and Mr. Beggs became interested. His experiments in this led him to organize an electric lighting company and he made it the first successful electric lighting plant in the world. This exploit in Harrisburg became known in New York and he was called there by the Thomas A. Edison interest and placed in charge of the New York plant. This led to his street railway field and soon he was engaged in surveys and management of properties in many cities of the country. In his early days in Milwaukee, Mr. Beggs showed himself capable of handling every job connected with a street car system or an electric plant. He was the first man on the job and the last man to leave and during strenuous times—such as handling 100,000 people to and from the State fair grounds in one day—he could be seen personally directing the job. In heavy snowstorms he might be found riding a snow plow. In this way he came in close contact with employees of the company and few bosses ever lived who had more love, respect and admiration from his employees. This was evidenced when he left in 1911. The employees presented him with a gold-headed cane, an album containing the names of 3,000 employees and a painting by Richard Lorenz. "We present these to our manager, our employer, our friend," said Martin Flinnerty, one of the old conductors, "for in all three capacities you have won the esteem and respect of the employees." Some years ago, Mr. Beggs purchased "Beggs' Isle" in Lac La Poudre, Oconomowoc, and in time his activities there became almost his sole recreation. He personally attended to the gardening and was extremely proud of his asters, peonies and roses that grew in profusion about the beautiful place. His personal habits were extremely simple. He maintained no automobiles in Milwaukee but rode the street cars. At lunch he was likely, even up to the time of his death, to be found eating on the arm of a chair in a more expensive place. "KEEP ACTIVE, ADVICE" "Getting things done" was almost a passion for him. He once gave a newspaper acquaintance something of his philosophy. This was when he was 76. "Keep your brain active if you want to enjoy life at my age," he said. "Never have I let myself stand still for a day. Keep going—think, study. Because one has made enough money to sit by and look on if he so wishes is no reason to do so. There is no prescription for a long life that has retirement contained in it. I work 12 hours a day. I couldn't get into a labor union because anyone who works as I do would demolish it."

Kansas City Doctor Invents New Truss

New Discovery Heals Rupture Without An Operation

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist Dr. Andrew Kaiser, 7468 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and holds a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard constricting pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no cruel steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Kaiser's ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of the Post-Crescent who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today. # GIRL SENT BACK TO HER PARENTS

Young Woman Arrested With Man in Rat River Shack Is Returned to Home in East

Blanche Burbee, Waterbury, Conn., who with Earl Stanley, also of Waterbury, was arrested last week on a charge of vagrancy, was sent to the home of her parents Saturday by Sheriff P. G. Schwartz after a money order for $50 had been received from Mr. and Mrs. Burbee for her transportation. The couple was taken into custody by Chief George T. Prim, who found the young people living together in a shack near the Rat river. They were placed in the county jail and word of their plight was sent to their parents.

Stanley still is in jail as no word has been received from his family. According to Judge Theodore Berg, no action will be taken in case until word is received from Waterbury that Miss Burbee is at the home of her parents.

When discovered by Appleton police the young people claimed they had been married in Waterbury, but investigation showed this was not true.

A FEUD

Germany, France and Belgium have agreed not to attack one another. Great Britain and Italy have agreed that if any of the three breaks its word, they will help defend the injured parties. The League of Nations has had its face saved by inclusion of a paragraph to the effect that these agreements will cease when the league actually steps in and takes action on its own account.

France and Germany, just to make assurance doubly sure and avail themselves of all the rabbits' feet and horseshoes in sight, have created a demilitarized zone thirty miles wide. It is a little as though a pair of Kentucky feudists, afraid of their own bad tempers, called in the neighbors to arrest either one before he could get at the other; promised never to fight again under any provocation; and then, just to make sure provocation would never prove too strong, ran up a corrugated iron line fence between their respective domiciles—the aforesaid neighbors agreeing to all this because they depend on doing business with both parties and want it to resume.

Back about 110 years ago a treaty, not involving promises to keep the peace, but setting up similar bulwarks and power balances to frighten nations out of any desire to fight, was signed at Vienna. To keep France from attacking northeastward, Holland was given the Austrian low lands; Bavaria was strengthened as a buffer state between Austria and Prussia; and France, just to insure the "balance of power," was punished very little for Napoleon's campaigns and left with as much territory as before Napoleon started. All this balancing failed, however, to amount to anything in the long run: Austria and Prussia came to blows just the same, and The Netherlands didn't prevent the Franco-Prussian war. History isn't very kind to the idea of peace by treaties of force.

What history has never tried is the proposition of an entire world united in a common agreement to prevent invasion and forestall war—the League of Nations scheme, given a minor place in the new treaty because of a feeling that some day it may amount to more than it does now. If any of the sanctions of the security pact are actually invoked, the powers will pay the league the compliment of making it their instrument; and there is some hope that these courtesies may eventually stand for genuine respect and reliance.

Another good sign is the obligatory arbitration requirement on all differences. The World court, league council and special boards of conciliation are optional with the parties but resort to one or another of these methods is required. And still another excellent omen is the bringing of Germany into the League of Nations, a formality to be concluded immediately under the terms of the pact.

It is from these encouragements of twentieth century methods of peacemaking, rather than from the temporary arrangement for balancing armed force in middle Europe, that it may be justifiable to derive promise of a permanent peace.

IT'S STILL COLUMBUS

A week has passed since Columbus day, and a careful survey of the newspapers east, west and south seems to indicate that this benighted and backward America still owns him as its discoverer! In the year just passed a number of savants have added to the growing fund of knowledge and supposition regarding the numerous Europeans and Africans who had visited our shores long before the famous Genoan. Theoretically, a myth has been made of the notion that Christopher Columbus thought there was nothing between Europe and the Indies but water. One of Columbus' captains has been pretty well identified as a pilot who had made the trip before. The very Indians who greeted the discoverers and explorers about whose adventures the world has woven so much of fact and legend are now assuming to have welcomed them in an Old World tongue or its corruption. The Aztec, Inca and Maya empires and civilizations are held out to us, not as virgin fruits of the western hemisphere, but as secondhand cultures growing up around the factories of Arab and European traders. A brisk commerce with America before Columbus' day is solemnly vouchered for by historical students of the highest responsibility.

Yet on October 12, 1925, the world in cartoon, story and article continued to pay tribute to the man who persuaded Isabella to pawn her jewels, who contended with mutiny and storm, and who planted the flag of Spain to initiate the first truly European colonizing venture in the new world. When we look at the invincibility of the legend, which persists in naming Columbus as discoverer, we must acknowledge the genius of advertising. For it was Columbus, not his predecessors, who knew how to bring America to the ears of the civilized world; who paraded Indians at Barcelona and had them baptised, consecrating his voyage and appealing to the faith as well as the imagination of Europe; who showed gold and cotton and strange beasts to a covetous, brave and maritime people, and set going the exploratory rivalry which so immensely speeded the coming of our modern day. The savants are quite right no doubt, in their disparaging of the technical priority of Columbus' trips; but the people of America, Spain and Italy, honoring their common benefactor, are just as right in the instinct which leads them to hail Columbus as the new continent's first practical exploiter. October 12 will hardly pass from the list of days internationally celebrated so long as this is a material world of commerce and bows to the practical accomplisher.

FAST AGE; MORE YEARS

Reflecting on the fastness with which time flies, and particularly on the sunset slope of life, there has been plenty of comfort in the last few years in the reports of new marks in longevity. Centenarians have become comparatively common and men of 50 are spoken of as young. Now comes an officer of the American Insurance Union with the statement that the span of human life has been lengthened four years in the last quarter century, and that within another generation "the allotted threescore years and ten will be a thing of the past." And this in spite of the extra hazards which have come with twentieth century progress!

There need be no surprise in it. The fastness principally is in machinery: instead of suffering from the wear and tear of it, humanity, lolling in the parlor cars or floating palaces setting new speed marks, tends rather to indolence. Advances in the science of guarding health now effect rescues where formerly death was regarded as certain. At no time did manhood ever show greater hardiness than in the World war. An increase in longevity is to be expected naturally.

Besides, the people of the future may look back upon our age as slow just as we do upon the period of only half a century back.

DEFEAT

There never need to be such a thing as defeat, if a man has the wherewithal to fight. You can't go for wrong in the things that you meet if you start out at dawn 'em right.

If all things come easy, and needed no pains, and rattled along upon luck, a man wouldn't have any use for his brains or his courage or get-up or pluck.

It's fightin' it out that will give you the kick, that will kinda make livin' worth while. He's shy of a crown, is the man who can stick, for his work makes him know how to smile.

Your job, after all, can be turned into play, if you're sallin' right in, and don't fear it. 'Twill never seem hard, if you start the day with the "Sure I can finish" spirit.

Forget that there's ever a word like defeat, for it's only a sign of distress. Just fight like a man, and stand up on your feet where you're always in reach of success.

THE THREE DEGREES OF FEEBLE MINDEDNESS

The number of weak wits in our population is so tremendously large that it becomes necessary to classify them, and to this end the experts have fixed by an arbitrary measurement three degrees of feeble mindedness, to wit, so to speak, idocy, imbecility and morosity. We must remember that these are merely artificial distinctions made for convenience in dealing with the condition of feeble mindedness, and that a high grade moron or a low grade idiot is simply an individual whose mental development has been arrested from some cause early in life.

In the dark ages insane people were cruelly maltreated by the general population which itself was of rather low intelligence. Feeble minded persons were ridiculed and abused and tortured as criminals or court jesters by the general moronic population. The morons in our population today still find much amusement in ridiculing or exploiting the imbeciles and idiots, and it is plain truth and no exaggeration to say that our public and civic offices are administered in many cases by morons, which probably accounts for the exploitation of feeble mindedness in many public spectacles such as the "dip of death," "Jesse who eats 'em alive," and the numerous depraved "cave devil" exhibitions which our moronic public authorities encourage.

According to the classification of feeble mindedness, an idiot is a person so defective in mind from an early age if not from birth as to be unable to guard himself against common physical dangers. An idiot has to be taken care of in every way—fed, dressed, undressed and washed. An idiot lacks even the rudimentary instincts which belong to the animals. An idiot's speech is generally unintelligible, merely grunts or at most a few monosyllables. The mental age of idiots does not extend beyond two years, as measured by the Binet-Simon scale for intelligence. That is, the mind never develops beyond what is normal for a 2-year old infant.

An imbecile is a person in whose mind there exists from early childhood a defect which makes the individual incapable of managing himself or of being taught to do so. The mental age of imbeciles by the Binet-Simon scale, is from 3 to 7 years. Imbeciles know enough to avoid ordinary physical dangers, they may wash, dress and feed themselves, they may be taught their own names and perhaps a few other simple words, and they may be taught to do many simple things like scrubbing or rough cleaning under supervision, but they must be guarded at all times against situations in which the use of judgement is required, and therefore an imbecile is a menace to himself and to his associates if permitted to be at large in the community.

A moron (this term is derived from a Greek word meaning a fool) is a person whose mental age or intelligence never develops beyond that of a normal child of from 8 to 12 years. Laymen sometimes use the term moron in a way that betrays their misconception of its significance; it has no moral meaning; the majority of morons are morally all right and some are veritable saints. A moron is no more insane than an imbecile or an idiot is. Morons may appear normal even beautiful—many handsome sheiks and beautiful dolls are morons—and be able to talk fluently—many morons do well in politics—but are prone to be somewhat silly in their endless chatter—listen to 'em at the movies delivering illustrated lectures to their unfortunate companions and the adjacent involuntary audience—and like the mental children they are, morons are easily led astray and they figure in the great majority of the scandals and crimes of high life and low life.

Another time we'll consider how come all these weak wits.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Monday, Oct. 22, 1900

Contracts for the new building to be erected by Wisconsin Wire works were opened at the office of Mr. Pride. The brick and stone work was awarded Nick Gmeiner and the carpenter work to Wettengel and Kaufmann.

Ruth, one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Strassburger, died yesterday. This was the second of the Strassburger triplets to die within a month.

A silver medal temperance declamation contest was to be held the following Saturday evening at the armory. The speakers were to be Lydia Rue, Bessie Bitter, Elsie Schaeffer, Max Loeb, Alpha Uem, Bell Harris, Edna Forber, Arnold Peerenboom and the Misses Ames and Zick.

Dick Dorn, town of Ellington, was in a serious condition as a result of a runaway while he drove his team through Black Creek. He was thrown into a ditch and was found unconscious several hours later.

Robert M. LaFollette, candidate for governor, was to address the voters of Appleton at the opera house the following Wednesday evening.

The Congregational church held the last communion of the fiftieth year of its existence yesterday at which 14 new members were taken in.

S. J. Ryan, who had been traveling in Europe for the last few months arrived home last evening.

William Duval, well known mason contractor, died Saturday afternoon at his home on Appleton st.

Monday, Oct. 18, 1915

William Palatich, Charles Schabo, Clarence Kober and Dr. I. R. Cole returned yesterday from a hunting trip in the town of Cleora bringing back plenty of rabbits and fox squirrels.

Fred Krueger, Loraist, died at his home this morning at the age of 91 years.

Appleton high school was defeated 6 to 0 by Oshkosh high school in a game at Lawrence field Saturday afternoon. Oshkosh made its only touchdown in the first minute of the game when Banks misjudged the kickoff.

John Curry, Lawrence college footballer on the second team fractured two ribs and injured a kidney in a game at Stevens Point Saturday.

E. J. Falck left this morning for Milwaukee where he expected to spend a few days on business.

The marriage of Mrs. Ruth Thompson to Renfrew H. Kuehnmsted of Chicago, took place Saturday night at Milwaukee, according to word received here. The bridegroom was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kuehnmsted of Appleton.

Miss Emma Rehfeldt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rehfeldt, Franklin st., was married this morning to Louis F. Hahn, town of Center. The date also was the silver wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The Y. M. C. A. obtained 308 members on the opening day of its first annual campaign. The total was 1,000 members for the new association here.

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. William Menning.

SAFER

Stop and let the train go by,
It only takes a minute;
Your car will start again intact,
And, better still, you're in it.

"It's mighty queer," philosophized Lemuel, "a woman will run for a mouse but in crossing college-ave she pays utterly no attention to automobiles. Yet the automobile is actually deadly, while you could hardly call a mouse that."

There was a wild, wild bullrush on the New York stock market last Saturday. That may be the sign of another Jewish exodus. Moses was found in the bulrushes, you know.

The big commotion on the stock market was because of the infuriated demand for motor stocks. Cheer up, folks! Maybe that means a rise in values of second hand cars.

If we interpret the handwriting on the wall correctly, next year automobiles will take all your money that prohibition doesn't.

Moralists who disapprove the printing of crime news may soon start a drive against the printing of automobile disasters. They think that a wreckless newspaper might stop reckless driving.

Bill Squeers is an ardent LaFollette supporter. Who would not think that when he named his firstborn Bobby he did so for either the big or the little Bob? But no, he named it for the lady's grandmother. She's had her'n bobbed too.

Next Saturday Ripon will come here to play checkers with Lawrence on the new waffle iron. Watch the rattling silver cavalry stagger in for a ripon' good time! Yes, we can hear those shirts rippin' now.

Two years ago a sign, "Tip up Ripon," was painted on the high school barracks. The only way they could efface the sign was to tear the building down.

Last Saturday was a Jewish day for homecoming and other football celebrations. Wisconsin, Ripon and Kaukauna got drunk at their homecoming programs, and Lawrence took the sass of Coe at the George A. Whiting field dedication. Has any one ever thought of the idea of staging a homecoming game away from home?

We never heard Coach Catlin sing it, but we're sure he does sing, "I've got the Blues!" For practically the same reason the coach of Coe college is now singing, "I've got the Gold!" But frankly, now, we believe he's blushing just the least little bit to match the colors of his college.

Dot-Dash-Dave saw Harold Lambin in the "Freshman" movie showing the entire field for a fluke touchdown, but did not dream that he'd see the thing repeated Saturday by H. Lamb, full-back of the Coe team.

Appleton grocers have helped pay for a lot of automobiles they do not own.

The Question Box

When in doubt—ask Haskin. He offers himself as a target for the questions of our readers. He agrees to furnish facts for all who ask. This is a large contract—one that has never been filled before. It would be possible only in Washington, and only to one who has spent a lifetime in locating sources of information. Haskin does not know all the things that people ask him, but he knows people who do know. Try him. State your questions briefly, write plainly, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Is the land surrounding Palm Beach below sea level? M. A.

A. The Coast and Geodetic Survey says that not only is this land above sea level but the entire peninsula of Florida is above sea level.

Q. How long can milk, tea, and coffee be kept safely in a thermos bottle? C. P.

A. All thermos bottles are not packed in the same way. For this reason milk will not keep in all bottles the same length of time. If the packing is good, the milk should keep about as long as it does in a refrigerator. The tea and coffee will keep as long as the thermos bottle holds the temperature.

Q. What does "riparian rights" mean? C. O. C.

A. The definition of "riparian rights" according to common law is "a person owning land bordering a non-navigable stream, owns the bed of the stream to the flum aquae or thread of the stream and may make reasonable use of its waters."

Q. Will rock salt put on a cinch driveway injure the adjoining ground? J. C. S.

A. The Bureau of Soils says that the application of rock salt upon the driveway will injure the soil for a radius of about three feet. If the roots of a neighbor's trees or shrubs extend under the driveway, rock salt will be poison to them. Otherwise, it will not hurt his property unless the rain washes this substance over on to his land.

Q. What material would make considerable smoke when burned, and little heat? T. P. McN.

A. In making a flame that will generate a great deal of smoke with a small amount of heat it is necessary to admit as little air as possible. Burn papers soaked in a concentrated solution of potassium nitrate. Allow the papers to dry before burning.

Q. Can sun spots be seen without a telescope? K. J. L.

A. If a spot of the sun is as large as 27,600 miles in diameter, it can be seen without a telescope as a very minute black speck. Occasionally spots are even larger than this, and 50,000 miles is a size not unknown. The largest sun spot on record was observed in 1858; it was nearly 150,000 miles in breadth and covered about 1.35 of the whole surface of the sun.

Q. Where are the principal weaving centers of the United States? J. G.

A. Among the principal weaving centers of the cotton manufacturing industry are the cities of Lowell, Lawrence, New Bedford and Fall River, Massachusetts; Manchester, New Hampshire; Pawtucket, Rhode Island; and Danville, Virginia. Among those of the silk manufacturing industry are the cities of Paterson, New Jersey, and Allentown, Pennsylvania; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, is prominent as a general weaving center.

Q. What is a Shaffite? C. S. M.

A. A member of that one of the four great orthodox Mohammedan schools of doctrine that was founded by the Imam as Shaffi. Shaffites are most numerous in northern Africa.

"FRANKENSTEIN"

The fact has been so often been pointed out that a public speaker never uses the term "like a Frankenstein" correctly that the legend of the universal error is almost as famous as the term itself. For a couple of generations after "Frankenstein" was first published everybody who had a vague notion of the book without having read it was in the habit of referring to any political or social or economic system that reacted to the hurt of the group creating it as being "a Frankenstein." Thus the spellbinder might assert that the Bolshevik system of government in Russia would "turn like a Frankenstein on its creators and destroy it."

But finally writers began to point out the mistake in the allusion and this correction has been so often and so monotonously repeated that the correction is almost better known now than the mistake. It has been pointed out thousands of times that it was not Frankenstein who destroyed his creator but that the name of the creator himself was Frankenstein and that hence it was Frankenstein who was destroyed, not the person who did the destroying.

And as is so often the case, that is about all most people know about the book called "Frankenstein." A house and use the term incorrectly or have seen the correction of the mistake for every one person who has read the book or knows what it is like. In the same way ten thousand use the phrase, "a disciple of Isaac Walton," for everyone who knows anything about the book that gave rise to the phrase.

NOT BY GREAT WRITER

"Frankenstein" is a kind of novel written nearly a century ago by Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley, the wife of Percy Bysshe Shelley. It is in no sense a great book and its great reputation is almost purely a freak reputation. Mary Shelley was not a great writer and neither was she a great thinker. Thousands of books have been published that are of much greater intrinsic merit but that have long ago been forgotten.

"Frankenstein" tells the story of a student of physiology who gets it into his head that he can create a human being in the laboratory and that he can do it better than God did the job. There are some things about the human body that he does not like and he thinks he can improve on them. He sets about making a man. He goes to the cemetery for the framework of his creature and the job of building a human body is comparatively simple for this expert in physiology. The bones are for the most part human bones although the stature of the artificial man is larger than that of ordinary humans. The flesh is what would today be called synthetic flesh. The story of the manufacture of the new man in the laboratory is told with some skill so that it holds the interest of the reader. While it is gruesome, there is a certain fascination about it.

The rub came however when the inanimate man was to be changed into a living being. But in the end Mrs. Shelley makes "Frankenstein" succeed in his effort. And then the drama of the book begins. The artificially created man has enormous desires that his creator has not provided for and for the gratification of which there is nothing in a world which has been made for lesser beings. In the end the monster turns on Frankenstein, his creator, and destroys him.

The yarn lends itself very neatly to allegory and Mrs. Shelley very properly intended it as such. I suppose the allegory or idea was suggested to her by her own life. Both her husband and her father attempted to create new worlds and in the case of at least her husband there was enough tragedy to make the analogy between the death of Frankenstein and him plain.

William Godwin, her father and Shelley, her husband, wanted to create something the potentialities of which they did not understand.

And there was something about the idea of the creator being destroyed by the thing that caught the imagination of the world. And that seems to have kept the book alive in spite of the fact that from a literary point of view it is only mediocre.

GERMAN LADIES

PLOT FOR THRONE

Princess Hermine Tours Europe Intriguing for Return of Kaiserdom in Nation

From the Portland (Ore.) Journal.

They say that the women war to bring back the German monarch. The former Kaiser's wife, Princess Hermine, tours Europe intriguing for reestablishment of Kaiserdom. The spouse of the once crown prince of Germany is similarly active. Another who schemes is the wife of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. Princess Antoinette of Luxembourg. She thinks her husband, long a rival of the house of Hohenzollern, should be emperor.

The fourth is ex-Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary. Her son, Otto, is 14 years old. She would like to see Otto on the throne of Hungary; she has hatched the banners of Hungary. She thinks that Admiral Horthy should good-naturedly give way to her ambitions and resign his direction of Hungarian affairs.

In all this feminine plotting there is no proposal of gun or poison gas. The women love the clothes and pomp of militarism rather than militarism itself. They love the glitz and the dress of court life. The love and adulation.

But the plans of the quarter of royal feminine schemers in Europe sound a good deal like a call for the chaos that yesterday to which people who have had enough of kings, will not willingly return.

Women Rule This Little English Town

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Correspondent
Lawford, Essex—The petticoat flying in the breeze alongside the British Union Jack!

It hasn't happened yet in this pretty little Essex hamlet, but there would be a poetic fitness if the inhabitants took their courage in their hands and brought this about.

For Lawford is a unique place in Great Britain. In the United Kingdom there are 2,000,000 more women than men, but men still rule the roost, carry on the government, hold down most of the jobs and carry on the public business—except in Lawford. Here the men let the women do the work.

Every day from eight in the morning until six in the evening it's a woman's town. The men are gone all day, most of them working in big factories in towns near by. So they have neither time nor inclination to hold down the jobs that are left in Lawford. Fact is, about the only men left in the place on week days are three:

The parson.
The coffin-maker.
The grave digger.

If you've got any business in the way of placing some poor person in the almshouse or paying your taxes or talking about hamlet improvements, the person you have to deal with is Miss Emily Spooner, overseer, tax collector and clerk to the parish council. She has been holding the job since 1903, succeeding her father and grandfather. She was raised on the job. She can calculate taxes lightning fast.

If you've got a child who is of school age, then the person you have to see is Miss Kate Rowe who is the school mistress and who in turn was preceded by a woman.

Outside of the school and the parish offices and the rectory there is only one other important place in Lawford. That's the postoffice. And here you find Miss Martha Payne. She has been on the job for ten years and was preceded by three post-mistresses.

And when Postmistress Payne calls in her staff of letter-carriers, does a trousered brigade answer the summons? It does not! Petticoats to the fore once more! For the post-women are Mrs. Mary Reason, who has served for 15 years and Miss Scott who has served for 23.

The Misses Beatrice Robles and Frances Hebert spent the weekend visiting friends at Green Bay.

BRITONS SWING
MADE MOTOR CARS

But Those Who "Knock"
American Cars Hardest
Never Use British Machines

BY MILTON BRONNER
London—Even a man from Mars would know that London is about to have its great annual motor show. For on all sides in the underground and elsewhere the eye is met by this sign:

"British cars for British folk."

But this is not the only way in which the British auto makers propagandize. There is a well defined suspicion that they have people who nuzzle in crowds and knock American cars at every opportunity.

It is no common thing to hear an American car is ever as good as a British car of somewhat similar price; that the American car does not stand up for wear and tear; that something is always getting out of whack.

The other day in a prominent hotel a Briton was thus speaking to an American. And the man from the United States squashed the whole thing by dryly asking:

"How is it then that you own a French car and bought an Italian one for your son?"

Time was when the South American republics hated Spain as much as Americans used to hate the England of George the Third.

If the South Americans now feel differently toward Spain it is largely due to the clever work of Alfonso XIII, who never misses a chance to do some gracious thing. Not long ago the Argentine warship Presidente Sarmiento pulled in at San Sebastian, the great Spanish watering place. King Alfonso gave a big reception for the officers. After the whole thing was over the king was strolling along the quay when he saw a young Argentine sub-lieutenant in great distress.

"What's the matter?" queried the king.

"Sir, I have missed our motor boat and my ship is lifting anchor in a quarter of an hour. If I miss my ship you know what that means to me."

"Don't worry," said the king. "I will run you over there myself in five minutes."

And he did.

Englishmen are always talking about America having all the gold in the world and insinuating that each and every American has yachts and pounds of the precious metal to his own account.

And at the same time they are always talking about themselves as "the new poor."

Well, the irony of it is that just now the residential hotels—a cross between a boarding house and a hang-up hostelry—are full of English men and women who are relating where they spent the summer. And each and every one of them is now busily studying maps and time tables and planning where to go to avoid the rain and fog and cold of an English winter.

Some are bound for Egypt, some for Spain or the French Riviera and some for Sicily, if they are sun seekers. The others are talking about the winter sports in the great Swiss resorts. And that is the way they are newly poor.

INDIANS ADORN
TRIBAL GRAVES
IN WASHINGTON

Erect Monuments on Tacoma Cemetery Containing About 2,000 Aborigines

Tacoma—(AP)—Graded, lawned and decorated with suitable monuments, the old Indian cemetery adjoining the Cushman veterans' hospital here has been completely transformed through the efforts of local Indians, assisted by a government appropriation.

The cemetery contains the remains of some of the leading Indians of the northwest, and about 2,000 aborigines have been buried there since it was established in 1853.

One of the graves especially sacred to the Indians is that of Chief Leschi, who was hanged in 1856 on a charge of killing an American army officer who was on his way to a parley with the Indians. The Indians have always considered Leschi a martyr, and some American historians have declared that he was innocent of the charge against him.

Chief Salutat, who ruled the Indians of this region from 1831 to 1866 is also buried in the cemetery. He was a great friend of the early whites settlers and was a convert to the Christian religion. In addition to Indian chiefs of the Nisqually, Puyallup and other tribes, the cemetery contains the bones of Tom Thompson, noted as a great Indian judge. He handled legal matters for the Indians for many years.

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and breaks the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Mucus refused after any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. adv.

Booklets on Distribution to Be Exhibited at Meeting of Merchants Tonight

A number of booklets and pamphlets covering phases of distribution and retail sales business have been received by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce from the national chamber of commerce in Washington, D. C. This literature will be placed on display at the meeting and banquet of Appleton merchants Monday evening at Hotel Appleton.

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce said Saturday that the national association of commerce has been stressing industries and manufacturing of all kinds during the last ten years, and that little attention has been paid to the problems of distribution and retail business. Now the national association is turning its attention more and more to distribution questions and expects to develop this phase of business extensively in the next few years.

Among the booklets and periodicals which will be of especial interest to Appleton merchants Monday evening is the first issue of "The Wisconsin Retailer," a new magazine for Wisconsin merchants which is published in Appleton.

Other pamphlets on display are entitled, "Retailers Expense," "Planning Your Business Ahead," "Problems of Distribution," by Herbert Hoover; "Chain Stores," "Small Store Advertising," "Merchandise Turnover and Stock Control," and "Arrangement of Stock in Retail Stores."

Reservations for the dinner and meeting are coming in at a good rate according to Mr. Corbett. Frank Stein of Frank Stein and Co. of Oshkosh, and G. C. Campbell, traffic manager of the Oshkosh Association of Commerce will be the principal speakers at the banquet.

CONSIDER BEGGS AS RICHEST MAN IN ENTIRE STATE

Milwaukee Capitalist's Estate Estimated at More Than $40,000,000

John I. Beggs, president of the Wisconsin Traction Light, Heat and Power Co., was possessed of an estate of $40,000,000, it was learned in Milwaukee. He was considered the richest man in Wisconsin. Mr. Beggs was a director of 53 corporations at the time of his death.

It was learned only recently that Mr. Beggs had established his legal residence in Florida about a year ago. The state of Florida has no inheritance nor income tax. About a year ago he went to Florida on a business visit and on that trip he established his legal residence at Port Pierce, Fla., on the east coast, where he purchased 27,000 acres of land, now under development. This project is at present being nationally advertised by a firm of Chicago real estate men. What effect Mr. Beggs' change of residence will have on the inheritance taxes that ordinarily be imposed upon his estate is not known at present.

During the last four years Mr. Beggs was unusually active in new ventures. The purchase and development of the Florida land project involved millions. He was the controlling factor in one of the largest paper mills in the United States, completed in Louisiana last spring. He was president of the Grand and Sixth Realty Co., which erected the Wisconsin theater two years ago and he left his name and capital to plans for improving the down town business district of Milwaukee.

IN MANY UTILITY DEALS
Mr. Beggs' holdings in many large and prosperous corporations were probably enormous. As president of The Electric Co., he was representative of the North American Power Co. in Wisconsin and he was also a director of the Wisconsin Securities Co., which recently sold large power and electric holdings in northern Wisconsin to the Bylesby interests.

MENTORS STUDY DALTON SYSTEM

Grade School Teachers Hold Monthly Meetings With Superintendent This Week

The Dalton plan of education which is being tried in Appleton grade schools will occupy most of the time of public school teachers at the regular monthly meetings this week. The group composed of fifth and sixth grade mentors is scheduled to meet Monday evening, the third-fourth grade group on Tuesday evening, the first and second grade group, Wednesday evening, and kindergarten teachers on Thursday evening. The Dalton plan involves the idea of having each child progress in his work according to his ability. Some children may be able to go forward with their studies at a faster rate of speed than others in the same grade. Another matter which will be given some consideration at the meetings is the teacher's questionnaire on educational subjects being prepared by Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools. Other minor matters will be taken up and discussions pertaining to problems of each particular group will be discussed at the individual meetings.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles. Have you a bad taste coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

4,000 ATTEND DEDICATION OF WHITING FIELD

Ceremonies Are Cut Short Because of Late Arrival of Spectators

A crowd of about 4,000 witnessed the ceremonies dedicating the new George A. Whiting athletic field of Lawrence college in connection with the Coe Lawrence football game Saturday afternoon.

The "break of the game," when the Coe Lawrence intercepted a forward pass for a touchdown, was the only thing that marred an otherwise happy afternoon for the college. George A. Whiting, Neenah and Stevens Point paper manufacturers, who donated the field and the field house, witnessed the game and the dedication ceremonies from the president's box at the side of Dr. Henry M. Wright, new president of the institution.

Owing to the late arrival of the crowds, the ceremonies had to be cut short in accordance of the policy of starting the football games on time. After the Artillery band of Appleton had marched up and down the field and played a few selections in front of the president's box, it returned to one end of the field to head the parade. A thousand students marched behind the band in snake dance formation. Behind the students came the Lawrence college band with the football teams and the officials in their train.

CHURCH COUNCIL HOLDS ITS REGULAR MEETING

There will be a meeting of the church council of Trinity English Lutheran church at 8 o'clock Monday evening. This will be the regular monthly meeting.

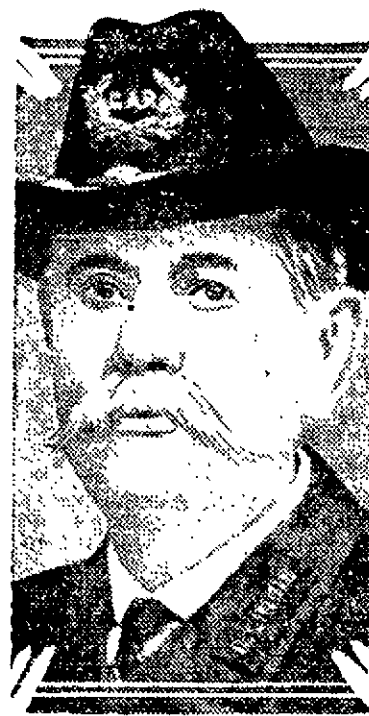

All the young women of the congregation are asked to meet at the parsonage Wednesday evening to form a young women's organization. The business session will be followed by a social.

The Rev. C. H. Henningsen of Racine visited at the home of his brother, A. F. Henningsen, 619 N. Morrison-st.

Line up before the north stands with the students in the background. Jack Wilcox, head cheer leader, started a cheer for Mr. Whiting. The hands then played the "Alma Mater," the students joining in the singing which was directed by Carl McKee, Lawrence conservatory instructor. The students then gave seven raps for Coe college and scurried to the bleachers, while the players lined up for battle.

Lawrence football eleven played a remarkably good game before the donor of the athletic field, in spite of the great handicaps they had suffered through the loss of Captain Eddie Kotal and a weakening of the front line.

WINTER PAYS FIRST VISIT TO APPLETON

Hopes that Appleton's Indian summer would begin with the warm weather of Saturday morning, were blown away in a whirling snowstorm Sunday night, the first blizzard of the present "winter" season. The snow started to fall about 8:30, after a chilly north wind had raged all afternoon and the early part of the evening. The storm lasted only about two hours, and left only slight traces Monday morning. The October blizzard reached its height at 10 o'clock Sunday evening, and at that time it looked as if Appleton residents would have to arise bright and early and give their snow shovels the first workout of the year. There was a heavy frost Monday morning. The temperature at 6:30 in the morning was 28 degrees.

Father John's Medicine is a Very Great Help for Colds and Coughs

Three Years Use Has Proved Its True Value

After using Father John's Medicine for three years, Mrs. Leon Vermete, who lives at the corner of Walton and Clifton Sts., Fitchburg, Mass., says: "It has been a great help for coughs and colds very good medicine for strengthening the children. It has been a success where others have failed for my babies. I give it to the children when they have a cough or cold or to build them up." The strengthening food elements in Father John's Medicine are so scientific that they are easily taken up and made into new flesh and strength by children or older people who are weakened and run down. It has proved its value by more than 70 years' success as a body builder and in the treatment of colds and coughs.

CROWD OF 2,000 AT HOMECOMING GAME SATURDAY

and West Green Bay Teams
After Battle

Kaukauna—The William Smiths
Kaukauna Tigers suffered their first defeat of the season Saturday at the hands of West Green Bay before a homecoming crowd of over 2,000.

The parade, staged by the alumni,
was held before the game. It was led by Ross Farwell and Billy Nelson on horseback. The band about 500 students and alumni marched and a long line of decorated cars completed the parade. Money for the band was furnished by a soliciting committee consisting of Misses Helen Guilfoyle and Gertrude Van Leshout. The parade was in charge of H. K. Derus.

At least 100 alumni, from out of town were present at the game. The cheering under the leadership of the cheer committee, composed of Miss Edna Sager, Alice Goldin, Harvey
Dix, Roland Rader and Bud Sager,
at the grounds kept the crowd excited
all the time. A crowd of about 200
Green Bay students and townspeople followed their team to Kaukauna.

About 60 persons attended the football banquet served in the domestic science rooms to the members of the Green Bay and the local teams and to the coaches and the teachers. Contacted with the handling of the committee was in charge of Misses Anna Gibbons and Carol Boon-man, heads of the domestic science department. A group of "Red Fish Club" served the supper. Olin G.
Dwyer was toastmaster. The first number on the program consisted of vocal selections by Alex. Jacobson, Cecil White, of West Green. This was followed by a short play in which he said that Kaukauna was the winner of the game. A song was sung at the close of the year.

The next number of the program
was a recitation by the Misses Violet Lindman and Hildegard Wischmeyer.
Coach William Smith then spoke a few words and was given a rousing cheer. Captain Bladon of Green Bay and Captain Vawter of the local squad and William T. Sullivan, business manager of the local team gave speeches.

The banquet was followed by a dance at the high school auditorium
and all members of the Green Bay
high school were invited to attend.
All local students and alumni were invited to the party also. A large crowd was present. The hall was decorated with fall leaves and the colors of both schools, purple and white and orange and black. The decorating was done
by Misses Ruth Nemcheck and Pearl Machure, assisted by a committee of "Red Fish girls."

of Frank H. Gamel's knowledge gained by 38 years' study of the problems of boys, second, to offer to the thousands who, for the lack of time cannot be reached by interviews, the bene-

ods of work which have been developed through his experience. Four more lectures will be given, Monday night for fathers and sons 14 years

FIX ROADS OR LOSE MAILMEN

Postoffice Department Offers Ultimatum to Patrons of Rural Mail Service

Kaukauna—Word has been received at the local postoffice through a postal bulletin that unless roads on rural routes are kept up mail service on these roads will be discontinued.

The bulletin calls attention to the fact that rural service is often hampered and sometimes curtailed on account of short stretches of bad road.
The department recognizes that the services has been greatly improved and speeded up through use of the automobile, and will no longer tolerate a condition whereby auto service is hindered by bad stretches of road.

The department states that in the stances where, after due notice, no improvements are made, the service will be withdrawn and the route
changed to avoid such stretches.

Postmaster Mill said that roads on rural routes No. 1, 2 and 3 have bad

is looked forward to in order that the

RURAL INSPECTION IS SATISFACTORY TO P. O.

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The semi-annual inspection of rural mail boxes and roads over which rural carriers are forced to travel was made by officials of the postoffice here Saturday. Each of those inspecting made the trip
with the regular carriers of the various routes. Postmaster Putham inspected route 5, Russell Wilkinson, routes 1 and 2, and Bert Haskell, routes 3 and 4.

They report the boxes on the various routes to be in good shape, a few having minor defects. The rural roads, they report, are also generally in good shape. They are rough and imperfect only in a few spots.

STAGE
And SCREENJAMES CRUZE'S SUCCESSOR TO "THE COVERED WAGON"

The Pony Express, produced for Paramount by James Cruze and opening a run of 4 days at the Fischer's Appleton Theatre today, is a well-knit and thrilling story of the West just prior to the election of President Lincoln, when California was hesitating between North and South showing the inauguration and coronation of the famous Pony Express and giving a glimpse of the young Mark Twain.

Jack Weston, a debonair gambler and a dead shot, has been condemned to die because of his antislavery actions by Senator Glen, who leads the Southern cause in California, but he escapes and goes to Julesburg, where he becomes a Pony Express rider.

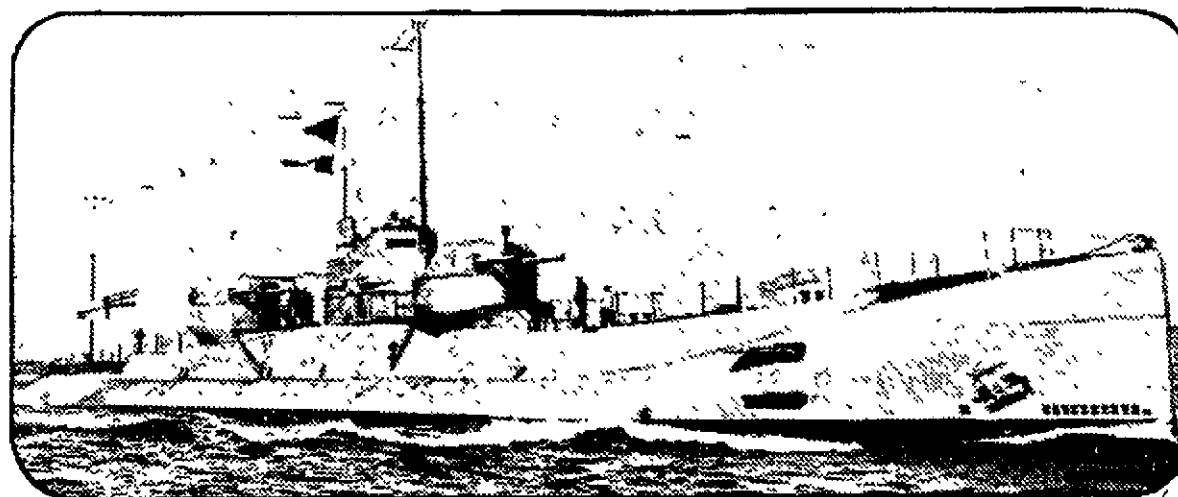

His rival for the hand of Molly Stevens is Slade, superintendent of the Overland Stage Company, a notorious "bad man" who tries to discredit Weston in the eyes of Molly and who later makes an unsuccessful attempt on his life. Slade has arranged with Glen to suppress the news of Lincoln's election in order that California may be swung over to the Southern side, this state being an important factor in the fight against slavery.

The story tells of the defeat of Slade's plans by Weston's wit and daring. Weston assists in the defense of Julesburg against a band of Indians led by a half-breed in league with Slade. Weston wins the girl and is later elected to political office.

This is a story combining historical fact with the element of romance that distinguished the West of former days.

Betty Compson, Ricardo Cortez, Ernest Torrence and Wallace Beery are featured in the cast of the production.

WORLD'S MOST POWERFUL SUBMARINE

Here is Britain's newest submarine, the X-1, displacing 3500 tons and built at a cost of $4,500,000 on its trial trip. The boat carries a crew of 121 men, is 350 feet long and possesses the most powerful armament of any underwater craft ever built. Note the massive turrets fore and aft of the conning tower.

The story is by Henry James Forman and Walter Woods. The biggest thing Cruze has done yet is what Paramount claims of "The Pony Express." Also 2 acts vaudeville.

CONSTANCE IS HERE IN NEW COMEDY HIT

An intimate picture of life behind the scenes in romantic old Vienna is given in "Her Sister From Paris."

Constance Talmadge's new starring picture, showing at the Elite today, tomorrow and Wednesday, Constance plays two distinctly different roles, one a lovely but timid young housewife and the other a blazen, boisterous Parisian dancer. The two characters are twin sisters.

The story is laid in romantic Vienna, and has to do with a wife who thinks her husband doesn't love her because he consistently fails to demonstrate his affection. So she leaves him and assumes the character of the stage-dancer sister.

In this disguise she charms him so completely that he even elopes with her, but awakens from his fascination in time to realize that he loves, after all, none but his own wife.

As the story unfolds, entrancing glimpses are shown of life in the homes of Vienna, and behind the scenes of the theatres. The concluding sequence takes place in a lonely old tavern in the forest, relic of the ancient days of old Viennese gaiety.

Constance is supported by a noteworthy cast headed by Ronald Colman, George K. Arthur and Gertrude Claire. Sidney Franklin, who has directed some of her greatest successes, directed this new starring vehicle.

The story is an original by Hans Kraly.

WILLIAM FOX PICTURE TRIBUTE TO GREAT EMANCIPATOR

All the world knows that Abraham Lincoln held the North and South united, but it may not be generally known that the rascally linked the East and West, even though he did not live to see the realization of his dream. The Great Emancipator was dead when on May 10, 1869, the crude engines of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads, touched noses at Promontory Point, Utah, completing the transcontinental rails, but without Lincoln the project could not have been carried through to completion.

The pathos of the achievement as well as the humor have been recorded on the screen by William Fox in a superproduction called "The Iron Horse," which comes to the New Bijou theatre today for six days. George O'Brien and Madge Bellamy have the leading roles in a notable cast, and John Ford, the director, has used in addition a regiment of U. S. cavalry and a tribe of Indians.

The historical accuracy of the picture has been assured by basing every scene upon an incident which has been faithfully recorded by eye witnesses. The story opens with the passage of the Pacific Railroad act by Congress, on June 24, 1862, and its subsequent approval by Lincoln on July 1.

In 1865, General Dodge, then merely a hopeful survivor for the government, met a man on the porch of the Pacific House at Council Bluffs and told him of his explorations through Missouri. The stranger took a deep interest in the soldier-survivor's talk. Seven years later, when George Dodge went to Washington to consult with Lincoln, the president said:

"Hello General. You've done what you were hoping for out there at Council Bluffs, haven't you?"

Lincoln remembered the meeting and every phase of the conversation and it was well he did, for it was just at the time that he was to establish the eastern terminus of the Union Pacific. He fixed on Council Bluffs while General Dodge waited.

In his message to Congress on December 1, 1862 President Lincoln predicted early completion of the Pacific Railroad and visioned 50,000,000 people settled "in the great interior region." He drew a mental picture of the unlimited possibilities of Western America.

2 KILLED, 2 HURT IN WEEKEND AUTO ACCIDENTS

ONE DIES, TWO BADLY HURT WHEN TRAIN HITS CAR

Ohio Man Dies Instantly, and Girl and Man Injured in Wreck at Medina

Fred Brown, 28, ironworker with the C. R. Meyer Construction Co. of Oshkosh, was instantly killed, and Paul Steiner, 213 N. Morrison st., and Miss Theresa Treb, route 2, Rosholt, were seriously injured when the Ford coupe in which the three were riding was struck by the "fish" train going south through Medina at about 1:30 Monday morning.

Steiner's condition was considered critical Monday noon at St. Elizabeth hospital where he is lying with a fractured shoulder and a broken left arm. Miss Treb suffered a broken left leg, fractured hip and lacerations about her head.

The people in the coupe were returning to the city from Stevens Point where they had spent the day with the girl's parents. They had left Appleton early in the morning.

HIT BY ENGINE
The car was headed east on highway 18 at the time of the accident. Approaching the Chicago and North Western Railroad tracks at Medina, they failed to see the approaching train, and the pilot of the engine struck the front half of the car, completely demolishing it and throwing the occupants several feet out of the car upon an adjoining track.

The Kuntz ambulance was dispatched to the scene of the accident. The two injured persons were brought to the city in the ambulance and taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

The body of Brown, who was instantly killed, was taken to the Dreitschneider undertaking parlor. Brown was not married. He came to the city from Ashtabula, Ohio, March 28, and accepted employment with the C. R. Meyer Construction Co. of Oshkosh which is engaged in work in Appleton. He has been with the company ever since. His parents were notified at once, but the body will not be sent to Ashtabula until word is received from them.

TRACTOR PLOWS INVADE REACHES OF TEXAS FARMS

Evidences of Passing of Picturesque Cowboy Appear in Great State

By Associated Press
Denison, Tex. — Evidences of the passing on of the picturesque frontier cowboy, and the splitting up of many of the open ranges over which he herded millions of cattle and brought untamed horses to the usefulness of man and the industry, are beginning to appear in the Lone Star state, whose vastness is filled with lore of the busy life of cattle raising.

Cotton and general farming are coming to the front as challenges for honors in the industry for which Texas long has been the most noted, and the prominence as a big state asset are to be supplanted, the business is still and will continue to be a tremendous one, but agriculture, and particularly cotton, way to new fields of crop and land values.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle ton, are showing many cattlemen the Raisers association lost 680 members during the year, a large number having retired from the cattle business, but a gain of 210 members also was noted. Consumption of beef was shown in an association report to have increased slightly. At the conference of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers it was agreed that cotton farming was more profitable than ranching, and that the Panhandle was passing on.

At this conference it was said that Texas' 1924 yield of 4,600,000 bales of cotton would soon be increased to 6,000,000 bales and that in the near future if the state was pressed and the future the state would yield 12,000,000 ranchers and farmers were asked to respond. It was added that the Panhandle ranches were being sold to farmers.

Ranchers are now finding it more profitable to dispose of their lands to the farmer, or work them as farms themselves, and many of them have sold their cattle, disposed of their teams and cow ponies, and bought tractors.

West and northwest Texas, a vast domain of rolling plains where cowboy fiction was famed, are about ready to give up to later devices. Where once the larlat and horseman roamed the chaparral, the plow and tractor have appeared in some sections.

450 ENROLL IN H. N. SOCIETY

Bishop Conducts Ceremony Which Makes Appleton Society Largest in Green Bay Diocese

Enrollment of 450 new members Sunday more than doubled the membership of the Holy Name society of St. Joseph church, and made the local organization the largest Holy Name society in the Green Bay diocese. There are now about 700 members in the organization. The Right Rev. Paul P. Rhode, bishop of the Green Bay diocese, conducted the enrollment ceremony which took place at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Bishop Rhode also spoke during the service.

The exceptionally large number enrolled in the society Sunday is the result of an extensive membership campaign by the organization during the last few weeks. Team captains were Louis G. Schweitzer, Robert Elben, Joseph Weber and Edward Alsech. The church service was followed by a breakfast at St. Joseph hall at which addresses were given by the Rev. Camillus Becker, spiritual director of the Holy Name society of St. Joseph church, and the Rev. F. X. Van Nistroy, Kimberly, spiritual director of Holy Name societies of the Green Bay diocese.

SENTENCE YOUTH TO REFORMATORY FOR FORGERIES

Black Creek Young Man Admits Trying to Pass Bad Check to Local Merchant

Alfred Bellach, 19, of Black Creek was sentenced to serve an indeterminate sentence of from one to three years at the reformatory at Green Bay by Judge Theodore Berg of municipal court Monday morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery.

The young man was arrested Saturday at Black Creek by Chief George T. Primm, Detective Sergeant John R. Duval and Officer Carl Radtke upon the complaint of Pettibone Peabody Co., where the former had attempted to pass a worthless check for $50 Friday.

Investigation disclosed that several other worthless checks had also been circulated by Bellach during the last few weeks.

Bellach tendered a check of $50 at the Pettibone-Peabody Co. after he had purchased a pair of overalls there Friday afternoon. The check was made payable to Arthur Reinke and bore the signature of Fred Weischoff. The check was drawn on the bank of Black Creek.

LEAVES STORE
When the clerk who received the check gave it to the cashier, the latter discovered, after making several inquiries, that the check was worthless. Employees of the store then returned to question Bellach, but the latter had already disappeared, leaving his purchase on the counter.

The clerk who had waited on Bellach was able to give a fair description of him, and the following day police officers went to Black Creek and were able to locate Bellach from the description they had of him.

He was returned to the city and placed in the police station until Monday morning, when he was arraigned in municipal court.

At Black Creek the officers learned of several other checks which the young man had passed. On Sept. 15 he cashed a check with Paul Seeloff of Shiocton for $15. This check was made payable to Arthur Schmidt and bore a forged signature.

A check for $10.50, which was made payable to Arthur Kuhn and signed by Theodore Mielke, was cashed at the First National bank at Seymour on Sept. 25. Bad checks were also passed by him on Sept. 16 and Oct. 7. The former was for $15, and the latter for $20.

MENASHA GIRL IS KILLED BY VAMPIRE CAR

Gloria Johnson Knocked Down by Autoist Who Speeds Away After Accident

Knocked to the pavement on Highway 15 by a "vampire driver" who stepped on the gas and fled after the accident, Gloria Johnson, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Johnson, Second-st. Menasha, was so badly injured early Saturday evening that she died in St. Elizabeth hospital here about 9 o'clock Sunday morning. The child's chest was crushed.

Police in Fox River valley cities are making an effort to find the driver of the death car but they have so meagre a description that the pursuit is difficult. Two girls walking on the highway with the slain child also were struck but their injuries are not serious. They were unable to describe the car and they did not obtain the license number.

WALK ON PAVEMENT
Miss Johnson, accompanied by Ethel Liebel and Leola Loomans, both of Menasha, were walking on Highway 15 from Appleton to Menasha to earn points toward a letter "M" which Menasha high school awards to pupils for athletic accomplishments. The girls were in a party of about a dozen young ladies on the hike to Appleton but the other girls returned to Menasha by way of Waukegan.

The three girls were walking on the edge of the concrete, near Gmeiner's corner about 5:30 when they were struck from the rear by a car going toward Menasha. The car was without lights and when the driver saw he knocked down the girls he "stepped on the gas" and fled. Miss Liebel was bruised about the head and knees but Miss Loomans was unhurt, although she was bounced off the pavement.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL
A minute or two later another car followed and the driver, seeing the girls in the ditch, stopped to pick them up. They said they wanted to go to Menasha and the driver started for that city but when he realized that the Johnson girl was badly hurt he turned around and rushed the injured child to St. Elizabeth hospital. She died at 9 o'clock the next morning. The other two girls were examined to ascertain their injuries and then were taken to their homes.

Miss Johnson is survived by her parents, one brother and one sister.

CHILD WIFE IS GIVEN DIVORCE

Court Orders Husband to Pay Back Alimony as He Separates Unhappy Couple

Menasha—Viola Olson, a minor, was granted a divorce in county court at Oshkosh Friday from her husband, Oliver Olson, a truck driver formerly in the employ of Miller Paper Stock company of Menasha.

The court in granting the decree ordered the defendant to pay up all back alimony aggregating $337.50 together with $70 for expense of buying the child of the couple who died more than a year ago, and also costs on file in contempt proceedings.

In the action for divorce started in 1924, the young wife alleged non-support and cruel and inhuman treatment. She stated the couple was married Sept. 23, 1923 and went to live with the parents of the groom, but after two weeks she was obliged to leave.

She went back to the home of her parents in Omro, but after two weeks at the request of her husband returned to him. She remained with him two weeks during which time her husband ignored her and the mother refused to speak to her, she alleged.

Sensational Run in First Period of Game Gives Visitors
Edge Over Neenah

Neenah—Neenah high school football team was defeated Saturday afternoon on Columbia park field by the Two Rivers school team, 13 to 9.

Hard luck followed the locals throughout the game. A fumble by Johnson Neenah fullback, when within a few feet of the Neenah goal line resulted in a 95 yard run for a touchdown by Ray Two Rivers halfback.

This occurred about four minutes after the game started. It was the only score in the first half of the game.

The period was marked by hard line smashes by both sides.

In the third quarter Hoyman of Neenah received the kickoff and a series of short passes and line smashes by Stulp and Smith put them on Two Rivers' 20 yard line when a fumble gave Two Rivers the ball and Schultz of Two Rivers was off for a 70 yard run but he was called back because the team was off side. Neenah fullback, Johnson, then made a sensational drop kick, the ball balancing on the top of the crossbar and then fell over, giving Neenah its first 3 points.

The last quarter was hardly started when Schneller punted and the ball rolled 90 yards. In its flight the ball struck the visitors' safety who missed it. Goertner Neenah's end scooped up the ball and carried it over the line for a touchdown. Stulp missed the kick for the extra point.

The kickoff was received by Greenwood of Two Rivers but he was stopped by Maulaf after a return of 20 yards. The ball was pushed across the field to the 20 yard line when Draut received a pass and dashed over the goal line for a touchdown.

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—By their united electrical prospecting methods, Swedish mining engineers have located for the government valuable ore fields in the northern part of the country. The newly discovered deposits contain copper, arsenic, zinc and gold in small quantities.

These successful methods of location are based on the greater conductivity of beds of ore than of the surrounding rock. A one point a deposit of copper pyrite was located 30 miles from the nearest ore-containing boulders. At another place a more lode containing 7 per cent of copper was found under a frozen lake below 30 feet of water and ten feet of mud. The Lundberg Natho method utilizes electrically charged wires laid in shallow trenches. Through a telephone the prospectors literally "listen out" the presence of the earth and depends entirely on electro-magnetic phenomena.

These two methods have now been combined under the direction of Swedish mining engineers, electrical prospecting is being carried out in different parts of the United States, Canada, South Africa, Spain, Portugal and Norway.

Why Raise Your Car On A Hot Water Bottle?

THERE are still a few misguided gentlemen in Appleton who think their most important work is nursing cars. They pamper their automobiles.

They invest trustfully each week in some new cure-all for failing autos that "just another" high pressure salesman has convinced them is THE thing for their car.

Only a few things really cure the ills of your car. A knowledge of their relative value is most important. We have this knowledge—and we can heartily recommend Benzol—the one gasoline which will start your car immediately these cold October days. Try it the next time you fill up here.

Men Don't Marry Girls That "Pet"

BY CYNTHIA GREY
To pet or not to pet.
Every week dozens of letters come to me from girls who can't settle this question for themselves.
Some of them have let a man make love to them only to lose him.
Others are afraid they'll lose their dears if they don't let them "pet."
Here's one of the latter kind of letters:
DEAR MISS GREY:
"I am a girl of twenty, and people seem to find me attractive. For six months I have been keeping steady company with a man five years older than myself. He has never kissed me, nor even tried to until a few nights ago when he suddenly threw his arms around me and told me he loved me, and tried to force his kisses upon me. I slapped him, and I haven't seen him since nor heard from him. "What's a girl to do these days? If you don't let a man kiss you, it looks to me as if he looks around for some other Jane who'll pet with him."
"DOWNHEARTED."
If "Downhearted" were not so young she'd realize that a girl loses only the wrong kind of a man when he refuses him the privilege of an engagement before he asks her to marry him.
The sort of man that a girl wants for a husband is not the sort who kisses and rides away, but the type who tells her he loves her, asks her to be his wife, and seals the bargain with a kiss that means something more than a thrill.
"Dooh, what's a kiss?" asked a painted little flapper the other day, when her mother was scolding her in my presence for kissing her "boy friend" in public the night before.
It doesn't mean anything.
Well, perhaps a kiss doesn't mean much more than a handshake to these youngsters. But the withholding of one is an important matter to the girls like "Downhearted" who are trying to "land" the man of their choice for a husband.
For a man will not marry a girl he can't respect. A man may take his love affairs lightly, but he takes his marriage seriously. For he knows that his marriage can make or break him. From a business standpoint, it's an important partnership.
And so he's not going to marry the girl who will let every man who comes along make love to her. He's going to marry the one who is respected by everyone, himself included.

Adventures Of The Twins

The Poet And The Lion
"Did you see any honey-bees around here anywhere?" asked Dick of the next person they met in the Land of Wonders.

"How doth the busy little bee, improve each shining hour? By sipping honey merrily From every bud and flower."

"I am a real poet, You may as well know it, In rhymes I converse, But they get worse and worse."

The Twins laughed. "Then why don't you stop?" asked Nick.

"I wish I could do so, Like Robinson Crusoe, But the habit just grew so, I can't."

said the man dimly.
"Did you see the Fairy Queen's honey-bees?" asked Nancy again. "The Pixies stole them and they are here in the Land of Wonders somewhere."

"Mosquitoes sing and buzz and sting, They nip us all our lives, If these are called mosquito bites, Are bee-stings called the hives?"

said the poet still more sadly.
"There is no use!" exclaimed Nick. "We can't get anything out of him, Nancy. Come along."

As they left him, they could hear the poet chanting:

"You can't get blood out of a turnip, You can't get milk out of a stone, You can't make a coat, Of an old nanny goat, And you can't feed a dog a bone."

"I was just looking for you!" said another voice, as the last line of poetry died away dimly in the distance. "But it's nine-thirty and the last bus has gone. We'll have to walk."

A friendly lion came roaring up, lashing his tail and licking his lips hungrily. But strangely enough, the Twins were not the least bit afraid. Everything was so queer and unusual in the Land of Wonders, they were learning to take things quite as they came. If a lion came next, he was not to be wondered at.

"Where to?" asked Nancy.
"To the July Pole," answered the lion. "It was to have been a May Pole, but the ribbons didn't come, and after they came the pole was needed every day for a clothes-prop, as folk were spring cleaning and hanging out winter furs to air and beating carpets and so on. So this is the first chance they have had to get things together. It is too late to call it a May Pole or even a June Pole, so it is to be a July pole. You are to have a lavender ribbon, Nancy, and Nick is to have orange. I'll teach you the song on the way. Hop on my back, and just call me 'Tassie.' My name is Tassel-Tail, but that's too formal. And so as to remove all doubt I'll show you my teeth. See! I haven't any! Lost the last in a rummage sale. Now I live on soup."
The Twins got on the friendly lion's back and away he went.
After trotting a mile and running a mile and walking a mile, they came to the July Pole.
"Now get off," said the lion. "I'll introduce you."

SPECIAL DELIVERY LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

Sometimes, old chap, I think that you ask too many impertinent questions for your own or anyone else's good.

Just why you are so anxious to know who took the little Zoe Ellington home is something in which I have no interest. I am of the same opinion as your wife, Leslie. I have always thought she had a better appreciation of ethics than you. If Zoe would not tell you who took her home, I could not possibly feel that I could throw any light upon the subject. Even if I knew anything about the matter, I would not tell you or anyone else, unless Zoe gave me permission.

Please bear in mind, however, that I do not say that I do know anything about it.

You ask me why I rushed off without saying goodbye to anyone. I had a chance to make that early morning train and I knew that if I waited to see you off it would make me at least twenty-four hours late for some business that had turned up rather unexpectedly and seemed quite imperative.

I had intended to write you before this, especially to write Leslie, but the business of which I spoke has kept me on the jump ever since I returned home.

I wish, however, you would tell Leslie for me that it was one of the most enjoyable evenings I have ever spent and that I agree with you that she was the belle of her own party.

I find now that I shall have to be over in Pittsburgh in a day or two. I expect at that time I will have to parry all sorts of questions with you, but I give you a fair warning, I shall not answer any of them unless I think that I have the right to do so.

If you wish me to, I will be a guest at your house for the few days of my stay.

Until then I am,

Your best, if not your most agreeable friend,

SYD.

CHICKEN LIVER OR VEAL BIRD MAKE GOOD DISH

Two very good recipes which may be prepared in either a large casserole or individual casseroles are given here. If properly done they will cause a resolution to give the casserole the chance it deserves.

CHICKEN LIVERS

One cup rice, five or six chicken livers, two tablespoons chicken fat or melted butter, salt and pepper, two tablespoons flour, one cup chicken stock, three hard cooked eggs chopped or sliced.

Chop livers and saute in fat until brown to the fat in the pan. Let brown. Remove the livers and add flour to the fat in the pan. Let brown slightly before adding the chicken stock. Cook until smooth, then add the chopped livers and eggs. Place a layer of rice in a buttered casserole and then a layer of chicken liver and repeat until all is used. Bake three-fourths of an hour.

Left-over chicken gravy may be used in place of the brown sauce.

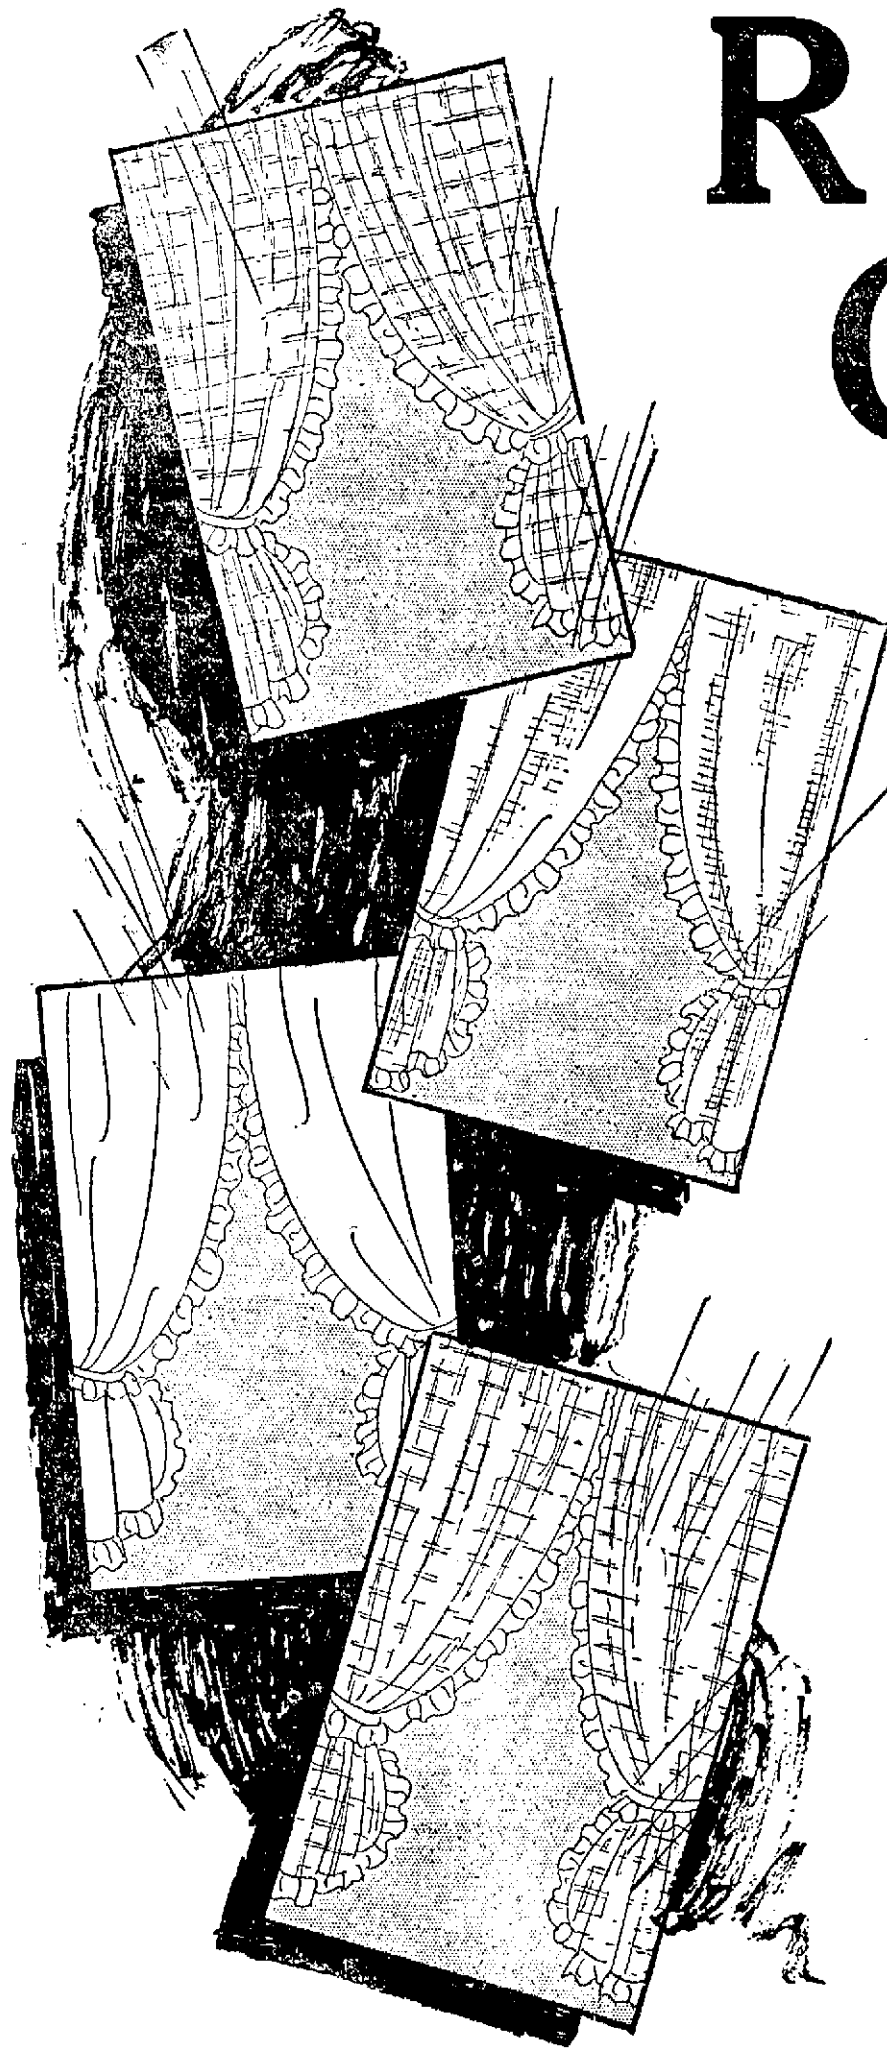

VEAL BIRDS

Select one pound of veal from the leg and have it cut thin. Cut the meat into small curls. Season with salt and pepper and spread with a well seasoned bread dressing. Roll and tie with a string of lard with toothpicks. Broil with fat which has been seasoned with salt and pepper. Brown in lard fat. When sufficiently browned place in a casserole and make a gravy by adding two tablespoons flour to the fat in the pan. Cook until smooth then add two cups milk or part meat stock. Let cook until smooth, then pound over the birds and bake from one hour to one and one-half hours.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE, INC.

She looked at him with her unspoken misery in her eyes. "I suppose I ought to tell you something, Mr. Gregory," she said after a moment. "I was just going to telephone you about it when you came in tonight."

Dick waited silently for her to go on. "I don't know whether I should have done it or not, but I gave Mrs. Gregory the key to your house today," she said at last. "Did she ask you for it?" Dick asked.

Susan Briggs nodded. "Well, I'll let that where she is, then . . . at the house," Dick exclaimed. His eyes lighted. "I wouldn't wonder!" Sue Briggs answered dryly. It took all of her nerve, her gallantry, to say those three small words in just that tone.

From under her lashes she saw Dick go into his office. She heard the creak of his swivel chair as he sat down in it. Then there was a long silence. . . . She knew that he was making up his mind whether to go to his wife or not. . . . his wife who was waiting for him in the house that was his and hers.

Not daring to move, Susan Briggs sat there. She knew that the happiness of all her life depended upon whether Dick stayed there at the office or went to Gloria that night. And even as she was making her decision that presently she began to put on her hat to go home. As she stood before the mirror, tucking a stray wisp of hair behind her ear, Dick came out of his office. He carried his hat and his inevitable brief case under his arm.

"Goodnight, Susy," he said in a matter-of-fact voice as he went out. He did not notice that she made no answer.

Miss Briggs stood there where he had left her, with her hands still holding the rim of her hat. She did not move until the sound of his retreating footsteps died away down the corridor of the building.

Then she opened the drawers of her desk and took all the things that were hers from them. Painfully few they were. Tablets and pencils, a small box of talcum powder, a face towel, and an old candy box full of odds and ends.

She looked around the room where she had worked for so many years, as if she were trying to print it on her memory. And yet she knew it was the one place in the world that he never would be able to forget.

She took off her hat with a jerky, impatient movement, and sat down at her desk. After a moment she put a sheet of clean white paper into her typewriter and began to write: "Dear Mr. Gregory," she began and could go no further.

What could she say to him? The truth was impossible. She couldn't write to tell the man she loved that she wasn't going to work for him any more because he was in love with his wife and not with her.

She couldn't tell him that her heart was broken and that there never would be any happiness anywhere for her again. And yet that was the truth. . . . Anything else was a lie.

Well, then, she would have to tell him a lie.

She raised her hands above the machine, held them poised there on instant, and then wrote rapidly: "I am taking this opportunity to tell you that I am resigning my position at once, for one where I will receive a large salary."

"Sincerely yours,"

She neither dated it nor sealed it, just laid it in the wire basket on Dick's desk where he would be sure to see it first thing in the morning.

As she turned to go out of his office she brushed against his old office coat hanging against the wall. It smelled of the tobacco he smoked in that villainous pipe of his. The sleeves of it still held the shape of his arms. . . .

Susan Briggs put her arms around it, hugging it close to her breast and laid her cheek against its rough tweed surface. Her mouth twisted and a tear slid from under her closed eyelids.

Suddenly she loosened her hold of the coat and let it swing back into place. She hurried out of the office. In the outer room she picked up her belongings, snapped out the lights, and went.

A cleaning woman was mopping up the floor of the corridor. Behind her was a small girl with enormous black eyes, and a mop of straight black hair. As Susan Briggs passed her she held up her doll for her to admire.

"See Dolly?" she said. Miss Briggs brushed past her and went on a few steps. Then she turned around and saw the small girl's eyes. They were the eyes that all children have for strange and sudden cruelties. . . . hurt and bewildered.

Susan ran back and pressed a nickel into the child's small grimy palm.

"Poor baby!" she said. Her eyes were filled with tears as she went down the stairs and out of the building.

Gloria darkened the house, turned the key in her bedroom door and lay down to try to go to sleep. But it wasn't the kind of night for sleep. A ray of moonlight lay like a slim, leaping finger on the wall beside the bed. The darkness seemed to be filled with an expectant hush.

There was a high excitement in Gloria. She swung her naked feet over the side of the bed and crossed the room to the window.

A large white moon hung low in the sky like a Japanese lantern. It turned the fluttering leaves of the popular trees to silver splashes.

The world outside seemed unreal—disturbing in its beauty, but the lonely woman at the window hardened her heart against its magic. She had a feeling that the only way for her to go on was to harden her heart against everything—not only against things, but against people—against Dick. She must never let the thought of him into her heart again, she told herself with a kind of dull anger. And then she went on thinking about him.

Somewhere out there in the breathing night, he was.

And suddenly Gloria remembered another night when she had stood at another window and wondered when Dick was. That had been long ago—on the night before she had married him. She remembered how he had driven up in the middle of the night and whistled softly in the darkness for her—a low "Dah, White" whistle. He had begged her to come down stairs for just a second to kiss him—and she had refused.

"What a fool I was!" she told herself, "and how glad I'd be now if he wanted to kiss me! How glad I'd be! . . . For there's no chance of that any more."

The tears that she had felt in her eyes all day—and in her heart—overflowed. She dropped to her knees on the floor and hid her head down on the window sill and sobbed.

And then she seemed to hear a low whistle—a low, clear note followed by a shorter one. She held her breath and listened. . . . Was it Dick's "Dah, White" call?

Oh, no; it couldn't be. . . . And then it came again.

Gloria raised her head. Down on the lawn in the shadow of the trees was a darker shadow. It detached itself and moved out into the moonlight. It was Dick!

Gloria's heart leaped in her breast. "Dick!" she said. And there was a note of relief and sudden happiness in her voice.

"Come down and open the door," he said.

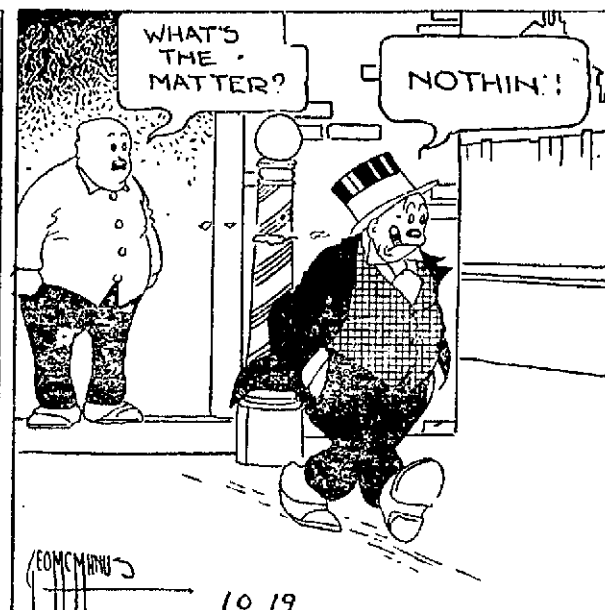

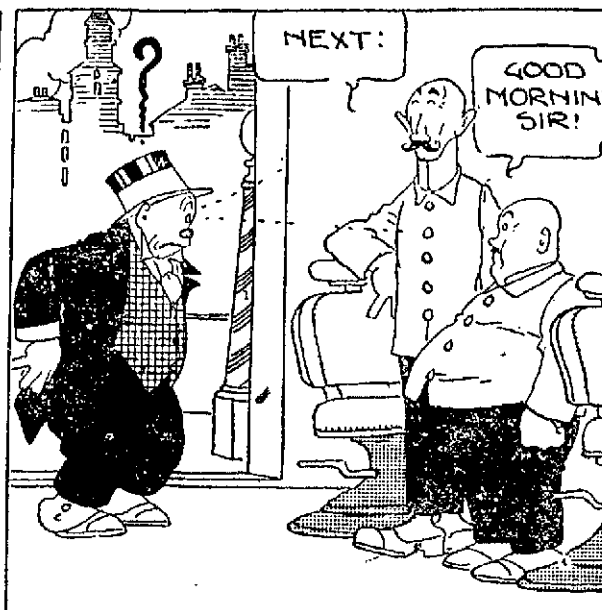

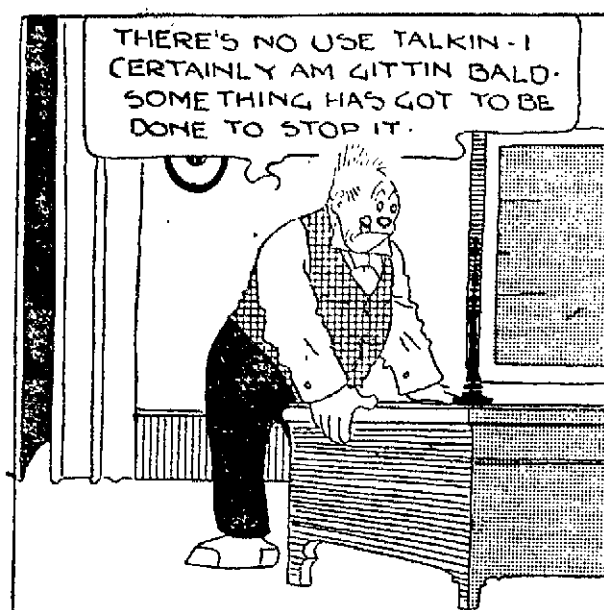

Without stopping to put on her kimono or slippers, Gloria ran across the room and down through the darkened house where the moonlight lay in patches here and there on the walls and floor.

She unlocked the door and pattered onto the porch. She stood there in the muted radiance of the distant moon and a street lamp just in front of the house. . . . Some passing neighbors stopped to stare as she threw herself into Dick's arms. But neither she nor Dick saw them. For they in that moment were oblivious to all the world . . . except themselves. Dick's arm drew her up. He bent his head and kissed her as if he never would let her go again.

Then, abruptly he freed her. "I thought you never were going to kiss me again," Gloria said breathlessly. "You said you never would, you know!"

BEET FARMERS SEND PRODUCT TO STATE MILLS

Thousands of Tons of Beets
Being Transported to Green Bay and Menominee Factories

Catawago farmers are harvesting, topping and hauling sugar beets
to various shipping points in the county to be sent to the plants of the Menominee Sugar Beet Co. at Green Bay and Menominee, Mich. All the beets in Wisconsin grown south of the Pond du Lac line will be delivered to the plant at Menominee Falls, while those grown north of this line will go to Green Bay and Menominee, Mich.
Beet harvesting presents a very interesting process to those who have never seen it done. A lifting machine is first driven down the rows. By this method the roots are loosened in the soil and are placed in a position where the tappers can separate the tops and crowns from the bulk of the beet.
The topping is done with a large knife shaped somewhat like a Cuban machete or sugar cane knife. The beet is held in the left hand and with a quick downward stroke the top is cut clean and true with but little waste.
The beets are then loaded for transportation to the railroad siding and the tops are retained by the grower as a food for his stock. Dairy authorities place the value of beet tops for fatty food purposes at approximately $25 to the ton of beets.
All three plants of the Menominee Sugar Beet Co. started to operate in a small way on Oct. 10, and as the volume of incoming permits they will increase the extent of their operations. With a crop running approximately 25 per cent higher than in 1925, the season will last considerably longer than in 1924.
The process of manufacture entails
chemical and mechanical processes,
starting with the washing of the beet,
and ending with the sacking and storing of the granulated sugar. The manufacturing process involves the use of from 300 to 400 mechanical pumps at each plant. Some of these pumps handle the millions of gallons of water used in the processes, while others pump beet juice, lime water,
and other purifying agents.
Wisconsin annually consumes 275-
300,000 pounds of sugar of all kinds.
The state produces 31,000,000 pounds of beet sugar. To produce the difference between the present production and consumption for Wisconsin, it would take an additional tonnage of beets worth $10,000,000 annually to farmers of the state.

CROWD ENTHUSIASTIC OVER BAND CONCERT

Every number played by the 120th Field Artillery band in the first Indian concert of the season Friday evening at Lawrence Memorial Chapel was received by the large enthusiastic audience which packed the chapel.
The most popular band numbers
were the overture, "Oberon", and
"The Rocking Horse Parade," a dramatic band suite by King-Hager. The three soloists, O. J. Thompson, clarinetist; Isahell Wilcox, soprano; and Ruth Hagen, danseuse, scored big hits with their numbers, and were heartily applauded. Mr. Thompson played "Comanabula," and Miss Wilcox sang "Carmena," and followed this number by "Love Came Calling." Miss Hagen, did a dance called "Over the Waves Waltz." The next concert will be held in about two weeks, but the exact date has not been set, according to E. F. Mumm, director.

STUDENTS FIND WORK THRU COLLEGE Y. M. C. A.

Several students have already secured employment from Appleton
merchants and business houses
through the newly created college

city Y. M. C. A. has cooperated in the new plan.
All requests for student labor have been referred to Miss Georgia Ben-ley at the college office. At the time of the organization of the bureau
last spring, it was thought that a phone might be installed in Brokaw Hall and later in the Forensic office. Since the recent drive of the Y. M. C. A. for "Hospitality House" an invitation has been extended to the Y. M. C. A. to locate its bureau
there.
Until "Hospitality House" is ready
the bureau will be located in the college office.

COLLEGE LATIN CLUB HAS "BIRTHDAY" PARTY

At least one group in Appleton remembered Vergil's birthday, although it occurred nearly 2000 years ago. The great Latin poet was born Oct. 15 in the year 70 B. C., and the college Latin club observed his birthday at their meeting. This was their first meeting of the year.
The club is in charge of Dr. A. H.
Weston, head of the Latin department and Miss Edna Weigand of the facul-

HEARING RESTORED OFTEN IN 24 HOURS

Amazing Results Secured in One Day
By Use of Virex Formerly Known As Rattle Snake Oil

Deafness and Head Noises need not be dreaded any longer since the discovery of a widely known physician. Now it is possible for some of the most obstinate cases of deafness to be relieved in a day's time by the application of a prescription formerly known as Rattle Snake Oil. This treatment is meeting with wide success all over the country.
Mr. D. M. Lopez, a Pennsylvania man says, "I used the treatment at night before retiring. The following morning I could hear the tickings of the alarm clock that I was unable to hear before. Now my hearing is restored perfectly after many years of deafness."

Mr. Ben Jackson, who lives in Indiana says, "Before I used Virex I could hear nothing. After ten days I could hear my watch tick."

Angeline Johnson, a Mississippi resident had been stone deaf for eighteen years. She says, "Virex has stopped my head noises and I can hear the train whistle 3 1/2 miles away."

Roy Fisher, Iowa man, says, "I hadn't heard a watch tick for eleven years—now I can lay my watch on the table and hear it plainly."

Mr. W. A. Lumpkin, of Oklahoma, says, "After being deaf 38 years, I used your treatment only a few days and hear fairly well."

Mr. Anthony Chapman, of Michigan, says, "The terrible head noises have stopped entirely and my hearing is practically back to normal."

DEAF BABY NOW HEARS

Mrs. Ola Valentine, of Arkansas, says, "My little boy, now 5 years old,
had been deaf since about 4 months of age. Now he hears very well and is learning to talk."

Mr. Mather Pelloys says, "My young-son, deaf for years, has used Virex
for only three days and he hears almost as well as before."

Such amazing reports come from all over this country and Canada. The prescription which is known as Virex, is easily used at home and seems to work like magic in its rapidity on people of all ages.
So confident are we that Virex will restore your hearing quickly, and to introduce this remarkable treatment
to a million more sufferers, we will send a large $2.00 treatment for only $1.00,
by collect on delivery mail, on ten days' free trial. If the results are not satisfactory the treatment costs nothing.
Send no money—just your name and address to the Dale Laboratories, 1860 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., and the treatment will be mailed at once. Use it according to the simple directions. If at the end of 10 days your hearing is not relieved, your head noises gone entirely, just send it back and your money will be refunded without question. This offer is fully guaranteed, so write today and give this wonderful compound a trial.

Elks Seek Half Million Dollars To Save Old Ship

"Save Old Ironsides." This will be the slogan of Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks lodges all over the country this week, when a campaign will be staged by the Elks to save the famous old warship "Constitution" better known as "Old Ironsides" from the destruction with which it is now threatened. A drive to raise $500,000 will be launched among the school children and their parents under Elk auspices to save from rot and decay
the most famous fighting craft of the American navy. The money with the approval of Congress, is to be turned over to Secretary of the Navy, Curtis D. Wilbur.
Thousands of essays are being written by school children all over the country about "Old Ironsides" as a part of the campaign. A bronze medal will be given in each elementary school district of the country to the child writing the best 500 word essay

on the topic, "Why will the preservation of the U. S. S. Constitution promote patriotism?" In addition a gold medal is to be awarded to the child
for the best essay written in the country and a silver medal will be given for the second best essay.
The subjects for the essays were suggested by President Calvin Coolidge who said in his letter to Secretary Wilbur: "The active service of "Old Ironsides," extending as it did over 51 years from 1793 to 1882, covers the greater part of our history.

and a study of her record will turn the thoughts of our young people to many of the most important events in the development of our nation. I therefore trust there will be a widespread competition for the "Old Ironsides" medals, because an understanding of the fundamentals of our history is most hopeful to discharging the duties of citizenship."

To keep warm in winter and cool in summer

Let one of these contractors build you a heat-insulated house—or sell you one

Any of these contractors will be glad to tell you why they prefer to build Balsam-Wool heat-insulated houses.

And note especially—when you come to consider grades of Heat Insulation, you will find Balsam-Wool recommended by builders who demand maximum efficiency at minimum cost.

IN FACT, you may not have to build at all.
Many contractors can show you a choice of pretty, commodious homes heat-insulated with Balsam-Wool—and all ready, or nearly ready,
to move into right away.

TO GET the principle and results of Heat Insulation thoroughly in mind—think for a moment about your fireless cooker.

The heat-insulated house and the fireless cooker
are exactly alike in principle.

Into the fireless cooker you put a heated food and a hot stone. You shut the lid down tight.
The walls of the cooker are heat insulated. They prevent the heat from leaking out. Cooking goes on with the contained heat.

Or you put something cold into the cooker.
The insulated walls keep the cold in, and the heated air out.

NOW apply this principle to a house. Put a layer of Balsam-Wool into the walls and under the roof.

Balsam-Wool is a blanket of clear, sanitary wood fibre.

It is 1/2-inch thick—and it is so effective in stopping the leakage of heat that you save from one-quarter to one-third the fuel you would burn in a non-insulated house of the same type and size.

And in the summer time, it shuts the hot air out.
So even the attic keeps cool.

YOU can readily see what this means to the comfort and health of your family every day of the year.

No drafty corners or cold floors in the winter
time.

No raw, chilly rooms in the spring and fall.

No stifling hot bedrooms on breathless summer nights.

And the best part of it is that this height of comfort costs you nothing at all. The fuel saving alone in three or four winters will pay the entire cost of putting in Balsam-Wool.

P. S.—In apartment houses the better class of builders use Balsam-Wool to stop the transmission of sound from one apartment to another. If you are thinking of renting an apartment find one that has been sound deadened with Balsam-Wool.

There is a difference in the materials used for insulation.

Real insulation should not be confused
with the long established practice of applying a layer of building paper under the shingles and over the outside sheathing.

In practical insulating efficiency,
Balsam-Wool, for instance, is the equivalent of 97 sheets of ordinary building

paper—or 8 inches of brick or 17 inches of plaster.

Therefore—when someone tells you a house is insulated—find out what with.

If Balsam-Wool insulated—then you will know it is properly insulated.

Balsam-Wool is a Weyerhaeuser product.

Michigan Easily Stands Out As Strongest Squad In Big Ten Grid Circles

Red Grange and Fighting Illini Hope to Spoil Maize and Blue Record Saturday

Chicago—The triumphant march of Michigan toward a Big Ten title, begun with victories over Indiana and Wisconsin, this week is gathering momentum that startled the football world. Michigan boasts a similar performer in running back a kickoff for a score in Benny Friedman, whose feat at Madison Saturday was a factor in the downing of the Badgers.

OLD TEAMMATES MEET

Iowa, flushed with victory over Illinois is taking stock of its forces for the Ohio State meeting this week end. Former team mates will meet in the game Marek, the Buckeye backfield flash and Cubell, Hawk back, having played side by side in high school in Cedar Rapids two years ago. Ohio's experience in downing Columbia last week is guiding its practice sessions and Iowa is improving its line. The Hawks back field, with Nick Kutsch, leading conference scorer is past the test stage. Wisconsin, starting under its defeat by Michigan, plans to regroup in the next three weeks, with their Big Ten opponent, Purdue, makes the game its conference start, after a preliminary record of two wins and one loss against outsiders. The Boilermakers' fall from grace by losing to Wabash has been mitigated by shutouts of DePaul and Rose Poly.

PENN VS. CHICAGO

After a lapse of a quarter century, rivalry between Chicago and Pennsylvania flares anew in their Philadelphi meeting. The Maroons, last year's conference titleists and so far undefeated although tied by Ohio State, are grooming themselves to reverse ancient history by defeating the quakers having won three and tied one of the games before 1901.

BAKER GETS REST

Northwestern dived by Chicago, has a breathing spell in rehearsing an entertainment for Tulane, before meeting three conference teams and Notre Dame. That gives the famous Ralph "Moon" Baker, Purple backfield ace, a fortnight to recover from his ankle injury suffered early in the season and aggravated in the Chicago game. Notre Dame, having fulfilled the prophesy of defeat spoken by Knute Rockne, its coach in the Army game is being rehabilitated for its first appearance of foreign midwest football against Minnesota. The game ends the Gophers pre-conference schedule so far successful.

Indiana in the last column of the list has since its meeting with Michigan expected slight trouble in disposing of Miami, an Ohio Conference member.

HOTEL SQUAD LOSES TO HOPPIE WIENERS

Hotel Northern bowling team lost its second straight stake of the season Friday night on the Arcade alleys with the reorganized Hoppies. Wieners' squad one of the most consistent groups in the city last years, as the winners. The Dutchers copied three straight games, piling up a 211 pin lead. Weissgerber of the losers, piled on the high score with 244. Other 200 scores went to Felt, E. Strutz and E. Strutz of the losers. And A. James of the winners. Felt got a 200, E. Strutz 201 and 209, H. Strutz, 206 and A. James, 211 and 231.

MICHIGAN HAS CLEAN SLATE IN BIG TEN

Chicago—(AP)—Michigan kept its conference record clean and its goal line untouched by the sweeping victory over Wisconsin on Saturday and now leads the western conference with two victories. Iowa has won its only conference start, against Illinois with Nick Kutsch, outscoring Red Grange.

Chicago has a tie game against its otherwise clear conference record, while Ohio, winning an important intersectional victory over Columbia, still has but a tie game in the conference records. Purdue makes its conference debut next Saturday, and Minnesota has still another game before tackling a Big Ten opponent, encountering Notre Dame next Saturday.

Illinois seems out of the running for the conference title under Capt. Grange, with the Iowa defeat against them and likewise Wisconsin whose hardest game on Saturday against the powerful Yostmen brought disaster.

Chicago	1	0	0
Ohio State	0	1	1
Wisconsin	0	1	0
Indiana	0	1	0
Northwestern	0	1	0

Green Bay—The Green Bay Packers stepped up a notch further in the National Football League here Sunday afternoon by defeating the Rock Island Independents, 20 to 0, in a bitterly fought contest. It was the worst beating the Islanders have ever suffered on the pro gridiron and their first reversal of the season. Despite rainy weather more than five thousand spectators witnessed the argument. There was no scoring in the first half. Both teams punted frequently and there was little rushing with the ball. Each club made only one first down.

Early in the third quarter the Packers machine got under way. Some slugging line plunges took the ball to the Islanders' territory. A pass to O'Donnell took the ball to the islanders' 10-yard line and another pass, Mathys to Norton, made the touchdown. Buck kicked the goal.

COUNT TWO MORE

The Packers counted twice in the final period. Rock Island opened up with everything possible. Larson intercepted a pass and the Bays crashed forward again. Basing plunged over for a score. Buck missed the goal.

The Packers got their final count via the same route. Larson intercepted a pass. Their first downs were made by the Packers and then Basing made the necessary distance for the touchdown. Buck kicked the goal.

Rock Island was never within field goal distance of the Packers' uprights. Gavin and Slater starred for the visitors.

Next Sunday the Rochester, N. Y. team plays in Green Bay. This is the first time that a crack eastern team has ever invaded Packer territory.

SMITHMEN LOSE TOUGH TILT TO WEST GREEN BAY

Electric City Gridders, Outweighed 20 Pounds to Man, on Short End of 17-7 Score

Special to Post-Crescent
Kaukauna—outweighed at least 20 pounds to a man Coach William Smith's Kaukauna Tigers lost one of the hardest games of the year 17 to 7. The big Green Bay line from end to end averaged about 185 pounds while the Kaukauna line from end to end averaged but 155. In spite of the big handicap the Smithmen held the big Green Bay huskies time after time forcing them to punt. The punting of the Green Bay fullback, De Coster, was a feature of the game. His "educated toe" placed the ball at will for 40 and 50 yards.

The playing of Quinn, big right end, was another big asset to the Green Bay team. Quinn was in every play and he also caught many long passes.

KANSAS SCORE FIRST

Kaukauna's chance to score came in the first five minutes of play when with the ball in Green Bay's possession on Kaukauna's 33 yard line a halfback fumbled and Macrorie raced 67 yards for 5 points's marker. As much of the credit for this touchdown is due to Willie Miller, as to "Mac." Miller removed two men from Mac's path giving him the chance to score. Kilgas made a perfect drop kick for the extra point.

The Kaukauna fans went wild and looked bright for Kaukauna, but the superior weight of the Green Bay men was more than the local boys could handle. On passes the big backfield men would tower above the Smithmen and could reach into the air and grab a pass that it would be impossible for the Kaukauna boys to reach.

Boyd, Kaukauna's star center, outweighed at least 35 pounds, outplayed the Green Bay center and broke through time after time and threw the runner for a loss. Two men worked on Boyd when they saw what damage he was doing and partially stopped him.

Kilgas in his consciousness to punt the ball out of bounds lost many yards by punting it out too soon. Although Kaukauna passes worked when they were played the local team was scared to try many as the big Baymen could outreach the local boys and get the pass before they had a chance at it.

FIRST HALF

Verbeten took the kickoff on Kaukauna's 21 yard line. Two small gains for Kaukauna and then a fumble lost two yards and Kilgas punted. West Green Bay took the ball on their own 49 yard line and being unable to make first down punted and Kilgas took the punt on Kaukauna's 21 yard line. Kaukauna made 6 yards on two downs and Green Bay intercepted a pass and received the ball on Kaukauna's 33 yard line. It looked bad for Kaukauna but a Bayman fumbled on the next play and Macrorie picked the ball from the ground and outran the Baymen after "Bill" Miller had removed two dangerous men from his path for first marker of the game. Kilgas made a drop kick for the extra point. Score 7-0.

West Green Bay received the kick off on their own 29 yard line and made one first down. The next play was a long pass to Quinn, who caught the ball, ran a yard and then fumbled, but recovered. Green Bay was forced to punt and Kaukauna got the ball on their own 12 yard line. Farwell and Macrorie made 7 yards and then Kilgas punted out of bounds on Kaukauna's 39 yard line. On the next down a long pass carried the ball to the 16 yard line and Green Bay put the ball away in four downs. The left tackle, Radick made the place kick for the first point and the score was tied 7-7.

Noie received the kickoff for Kaukauna and on the first play Green Bay intercepted a pass. The Green Bay center was penalized 15 yards for unnecessary roughness. On the next play Farwell intercepted a pass and Kaukauna received the ball on their own 22 yard line. Farwell made five yards. Kilgas threw a pass to Mac for 4 yards.

Kilgas punted on the next play and Green Bay received the ball on their own 32 yard line. Boyd broke through and threw the runner for a loss and Green Bay punted to Kaukauna. Neither team was able to score or to gain much ground and Green Bay had the advantage on the punts the half ended 7-7.

SECOND HALF

Miller received the kickoff for Kaukauna on the 39 yard line. Kilgas punted on the third down to West's 42 yard line and they in return punted back on their third down. Kaukauna lost 16 yards on the exchange of punts. Kilgas recovering but fumbling the ball and Verbeten took it for Kaukauna on the 23 yard line. Green Bay took three downs without a gain and then punted to Kaukauna's 13 yard line and Kaukauna lost 10 yards on the punt. Kilgas punted back at once but made a poor kick and Green Bay got the ball on Kaukauna's 26 yard line. Green Bay tried three times to make gains but the Kaukauna line held. On the fourth down Radick's place

Kick put Green Bay in the lead 10-7. Kaukauna got the kickoff on her own 43 yard line and Farwell took through the line for 6 yards. Verbeten made 1 on the next play and then Kilgas pulled a pass which was rounded. Mr. Farwell was held on the next down and Green Bay received the ball on their own 17 yard line. The Kaukauna line was tiring rapidly and the Green Bay men carried them off their feet with a series of line smashes, carrying the ball to Kaukauna's 11 yard line. On the last down with 6 yards to go Green Bay tied a fake place kick and the pass on the play was blocked. Kaukauna received the ball on their own 20 yard line.

Kilgas punted on the first down and West recovered on the 42 yard line. On the next play, Farwell intercepted a pass and Kaukauna had the ball on their own 26 yard line. Kilgas punted on the third down and Green Bay recovered on their 45 yard line. Quinn caught a long pass on the second play and the ball was on the 15 yard line. On the next play pass carried the ball six inches from the line and it was taken over on the next play. Radick made the place kick. Score 15-7. The balance of the game was played in the middle of the field with neither side making material gains and the game ended with the ball in Kaukauna's possession.

KAUKADNA LEGION WHIPS PESHTIGO

Kaukauna—The local American Legion defeated Peshtigo 26-0 Sunday afternoon before a small crowd of spectators. O last minute rain spoiled the crowd as the weather was so threatening that many people stayed away from the game.

The legion team did not play its usual brand of football but seemed disorganized and did poor work. Peshtigo did not have much of a team as the second squad walked away with their men as well as the first in the final half. Next week the legion

ARMY, PENN SHOW UP WELL IN EAST

Cadets Wallop Rockne's Grid Hopes and Yale, Big 3 Champ, Falls Before Quakers

New York—(AP)—Army and Pennsylvania Monday stood out as strong eastern candidates for national collegiate football honors after a hectic weekend of thrills and spills.

Knute Rockne's Notre Dame warriors, titleholders of 1924, have been shunted from the range of the contenders by an overwhelming defeat at the hands of the cadets here Saturday, 27 to 0.

Yale, champion team of the Big Three, and unbeaten since 1922, fell from immediate consideration under a bruising Pennsylvania blow, 16 to 13.

Harvard is counted in the running after an impressive scoring exhibition against Middlebury and Columbia rated as the strongest New York eleven in years.

Pittsburg, Brown, Penn State and West Virginia are likewise among the teams to show at least one defeat at this point, while records of Princeton, Lafayette, Navy, Colgate, Lehigh and Washington and Jefferson include one tie game.

meets De Pere on the local gridiron and a much harder battle is expected. Coach William Ashe is preparing for a hard week's work in preparation for the coming game. Vanderloop, a new halfback from Little Chute, starred for the Soldiers.

Buy It Right

There is a growing tendency on the part of the motoring public to abandon the practice of buying lubricating oil a quart or two at a time.

This custom of a few years ago has been discarded as inconvenient and unsatisfactory—not to say extravagant.

The most economical way to buy lubricating oil is in larger quantities.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) sells Polarine—The Perfect Motor Oil—in any quantity you may desire.

Most users of Polarine are buying in half barrel and barrel quantities.

We suggest that you reflect on the convenience of having Polarine in your garage in larger quantities.

We will be glad to make deliveries at such stated intervals as you elect; in this way you will never be without oil and in a year's time you will have saved considerable money.

But, be sure you get the right oil for your car.

The old practice of ordering "oil" is like calling for a pair of shoes without stating the size needed.

They may fit; chances are they won't. Same way with oil.

Buy Polarine in the grade made to fit your car, consulting the chart at Any Standard Oil Service Station or At Any Authorized Garage for the correct grade. Recommendation is made only after exhaustive study by our lubricating staff of trained and able men.

The correct grade of Polarine for your car will thoroughly lubricate every frictional surface and add years and miles to the life of your car.

But, drain your crankcase every 500 miles; thoroughly cleanse your motor with Polarine Flushing Oil, and refill with Polarine in the correct grade.

This practice saves your car and your money.

BRITISH MAY EVACUATE COLOGNE BRIDGEHEAD
Paris.—(P)—Evacuation of the Cologne bridgehead now held by British troops is expected to result from the agreement reported in the security conference, although it was said in French official circles Monday that no promise, verbal or written, has been made to that effect.
Foreign Secretary Chamberlain of Great Britain and French Foreign Minister M. Briand who returned Monday from Locarno, were discussing with Premier Poincare the question of re-allocating the territory in the Rhine-land between the forces of the allied powers after the evacuation of Cologne. This was taken to mean that the Bridgehead would be returned to the Germans within a few weeks.

AIRCRAFT WILL DESTROY EUROPE, AUTHOR WARNS
Destruction Will Rain Over Entire Continent Unless Air Warfare Is Regulated

London.—Unless flying machines are regulated death will be rained down by the square mile in the next European war, is the prediction made by J. M. Spaight, author of "Aircraft in War," and other books in his latest publication "Air Power and War Rights," in which he makes an appeal for the limitation of air armaments.
"Let there be no doubt about it," writes Mr. Spaight, "unless air power is regulated and controlled it will destroy civilization itself. Aircraft have a terrible lesson in store for mankind. Shall we ever learn the lesson properly until it is hurled at us in thunder and flame?" he asks, and answers as follows:
Sometimes one doubts whether we shall. It is admitted that air raids will be more terrible in future wars than they were in 1918, but it is doubtful whether the appalling menace to civilization which this admission involves is grasped by the general public.
Mr. Spaight was the British member of the commission of jurists on laws of war at The Hague, in 1922-23, and of these rules he says: "It is doubtful whether such rules for air bombardment as those drawn up by the jurists at The Hague in January-February, 1923, will save the world's great cities."

The joker in The Hague rules, says Mr. Spaight, is this: The regulations solemnly declared that military objects alone are to be liable to bombardment, they are "obligingly and tactfully vague as to what military objectives are exactly." In the event of another war outbreak, with recollections of 1914 in mind, virtually all the countryside of every nation involved would become engaged in war work of some kind, every public building turned into a war center and since every town would contain war works of one kind or another, every town would be bombed, with the people in it.

The next war may be over almost before the armies get into action, Mr. Spaight suggests; London, Paris, Berlin may be reduced to ruins, tangled with corpses, before a single land battle has been fought. Air power or will start in to land the knockout blow as soon as war is declared, or even before. Bombing by all means should be limited only to property used for war purposes. That, he avers, is the only remedy.
